Sir,

With reference to Rule necessity, I purchased for my own use subject to the approval of the Government a cow for Rs 25 from a shepherd named Wamappa and a she buffalo for Rs 30 from one Ahmad Saib both residents of this place.

The prices paid are the full value of the animals. I believe that the Vendor of the Cows is a regular dealer in Cattle, so perhaps the Case comes within the notification dated the 20th January, 1882 appearing on page 10 of the above said papers
- but as I am not sure I join the matter.

I have the honor to be
Sir,

Your Most Obedient Servant.

I don't know. It seems an attention in my opinion in the present day - but then the is wide enough to keep. J. H.

It seems questionable however if the case can be called "valuable property" (S. 51 of the Indian Act), at all. The other articles or animals mentioned in the rule would generally be at the least right lines as much as there has been were bought for.

Probably S. 51V generally except in the case of for the purpose of so, as Govt. would be delayed with application for permission to buy things.

It is proposed to be all held that the purchases are unobjectionable.

I submit that this is carrying matters too far. The rules laid down were never intended to meet such cases.
Submitted that Mr. Ford may be told that Govt. considers that a reference was not necessary.

Order: 20th Feb. 1900 No. 849.
Mr. Ford will be informed that the purchases are unobjectionable.
