PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper :—

From J. P. HEWETT, Esq., C.I.E., Deputy Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department (Books), to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, dated Simla, the 31st October 1891, No. 506.

I am directed to inquire if any compilation of Circular and General Orders issued by the Local Government, such as the "Manual of Orders of Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh," has been prepared in Madras. If so, I am to request that two copies may be forwarded for the use of this office, and that, with a view to the compilation being kept up to date, any additions or alterations which may subsequently be made in the orders may be regularly communicated to this department.

2. No such collection of Government orders has been received in this department from Madras. Most of the Manuals in the special departments, such as Police and Jails, and the Manual issued by the Board of Revenue, have been received; but the corrections have not, in all cases, been regularly forwarded. I am to request that, with the permission of His Excellency the Governor in Council, instructions may be issued for the regular transmission to the Home Department of any new or revised Manuals on any subject which may hereafter be issued in Madras, and of any additions or alterations subsequently made in them.

ORDER—dated 27th November 1891, No. 1002, Public.

The Government of India will be informed that no such compilation as that referred to in paragraph 1 exists in this Presidency.

2. The foregoing letter will be communicated to all departments of the Secretariat, for compliance with the request conveyed in paragraph 2. If available, two copies of the various Manuals, Codes, &c., corrected up to date, should be forwarded to the Home Department, and arrangements made for the regular supply of correction slips in future.

3. Two copies of the Civil Service Manual will be supplied by this department.
