Sir,

In forwarding to you the enclosed petition for promotion from the Head Writer of this Jail together with copies of testimonials, all of which speak very highly of the ability and assiduity of the petitioner, I have the honor to request that you will, if possible, afford him some promotion of which I think he is deserving.

I have the honor to

My dear ⁺ Sister

The application that goes to you
+ District with this note is from V Venkatabramanna Collector the Head Clerk in my Central Jail Office.
Magistrate He is a good English Scholar and Account Jadavary ant, and writes a good hand and is steady, as far as I know, and regular at his work. He has small chance of any promotion in this Department and as I never stand in the way of a man's efforts to try and better himself. I have sanctioned his making this application to you.

Believe me

Yours sincerely

My dear ⁺ Grovers

+ Asst
Secy Jail
Madras

Among the many subordinates who have served under me at the Central Jail at this Station, I cannot think of one more deserving of encouragement and promotion than my Head Clerk Vera Venkataremmanah. Unfortunately for him there are no prospects in the Jail Department, and he is anxious to take up any other work in this Station, Madras, which may lead to advancement. He is an excellent accountant and neat Caligraphist, and I could strongly recommend him to you for employment in the Account Dept. I am sure he will give satisfaction.

He has worked immediately under me for a dozen years, and I know him well. I will deem it a favor if you can do any thing for him. He will not disappoint you.

Asking you to excuse the liberty I am taking in troubling you.

Believe me
Yours very sincerely
