SIR,

As instances have recently occurred in which inconvenience has been experienced by the Government of India and Her Majesty's Secretary of State owing to proposals being made for the remand to military duty of Military Officers in civil employ while they are on leave in England, the Governor General in Council directs that, when a Local Government or Administration considers it expedient to recommend the reversion to military duty of a Military Officer in civil employ, the proposal for his reversion should invariably be made while he is still on duty in India, and that permission to proceed on leave should not, save in those exceptional cases where a Medical Board considers it necessary that leave should be granted immediately, be given to an officer whose reversion to military duty has been recommended.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

C. J. LYALL,
Secretary to the Government of India.
