To
The Honorable

Chief Secretary to Government

The humble petition of Nallagonda Kotha

-Raoappa, the Proprietor and Editor of the periodical entitled the Suneele, Rajahmundry, most humbly sheweth,

1 that your honor's humble petitioner is a clerk or 15 Rs in the District and Sessions Court Godavari.

2 The he obtained the sanction of the Government (vide order No 408 dated 14th April 1888)

for publishing a journal containing

(a) Subjects to enlighten the Hindu women in general

(b) to guard the interests of the remarried women.

(c) news and subjects regarding widow marriages

(d) to bring to the notice of Government the conduct of those who give trouble to the marriage people.

person (however liberally educated and rich he may be) to work in the true interest of the remarried woman.

10 That your petitioner, a widow marriage man, who has sacrificed all his time and prospects for the widow marriage cause felt it his duty to contend hard at any sacrifice for the remarried ladies, against those who want to ruin them either in the garb of friend or foe and has been acting according to his own resolution by starting the Godavari & the Andhra Samaj, and a small newspaper called the Sunak a copy of which is herewith enclosed.

11 That your humble petitioner has already sacrificed and suffered sufficiently

13 That as the petitioner married a widow fully depending, for his protection only upon the Government which, he knows, readily hears even the feeblest voice from any part of distance, and gives redress and peace, he (petitioner) most humbly prays that the most benevolent Government may be pleased to grant him the following —

(a) that the ^{gouda K} may be favoured with rules or orders as to what kind of Subjects and news must be avoided, so that his paper may be purely of moral and social (including religious) character; local politics being a territoriality under which certain persons wish to find fault with the petitioner for having published news relating to election of a municipal Councillor — things of the kind.

(b) that the benevolent Government may be pleased to send confidential instructions to the District Judge that the petitioner may not be transferred to any other Court; and also to the Superintendent of Police, Godavari, Barrack that the personal safety of
