For orders. No. 12 is a good deal for a peon but no doubt his duties are arduous & he apparently does them well.

small increase of Rs 2. He first joined the way at its commencement. The proposed salary of Rs 50, is more suited to his abilities.

6- I would propose a proportionate difference between the salaries of the third, fourth, and fifth draughtsmen making a total monthly reduction of Rs 24. The two former are vacant.
I would promote the fifth draughtsman to the third post, and then appoint new men to the two latter.

7- The Head peon deserves the increase of Rs 2. He is a hardworking and intelligent man who performs his duties in an unexceptionable manner. There should be a slight difference between his salary and the next.

To

The Chief Secretary to Government, through the Accountant-General, Fort St George, Madras.

SIR,

I have the honour to submit a proposition statement for the revision of this Establishment from April 1892.

2. The proposals shew a saving of Rs. 100 month on the salaries budgeted for next year.

3. — The charges proposed, affect all draughtsmen, and the Head peon, so that a proportionate difference may be shewn from the least to the lowest. The posts of third and fourth draughtsmen are vacant, and I consider the present rates too high to give to men newly appointed.

4. — The Head draughtsman deserves proposed increase of Rs 10, through his ability, long service, and also, as it is desirable that the occupant of the post should have so appreciable increase over the others.

5. — The second draughtsman deser
