My Dear Mac Cartie

I enclose a letter from Harding explaining why he is unwilling to go to the Audit Dept The defalcation to which he alludes is one which occurred some time ago in the Office of the Treas. Bd of which he was President and the opportunity for committing it directed that I should make to Hardy Partridge and Batten is as follows:-

Hardy is ^{un}willing to be nominated Partridge & Batten are willing The marks of the three men in mathematics are.

Hardy 273. Partridge 207
Batten 144.

The chance of nominating Murray regarding which His Excellency spoke to me last Tuesday, has been frustrated by his getting an extension of leave. If His Excellency or the Govt of Madras consider that the marks of Partridge and Batten in mathematics are not sufficiently high there is Vaughan (No. 116) who got 457.

not do. I know but little of Mr. Satchel (No. 111). He does not seem to be very strong very brilliant. Mr. Satchel is not spoken highly of by his collector as a workman. He was in the matter of passing his Standard by law, and required spinning on the back of his hand.

Mr. Satchel would probably do very well.
He is very well spoken of by his work as very well turned out. I submit however that it would be a pity to pass up him - Nos. 114 & 115 are in the Hall East of Fitzpatrick's & Simpson's in which they have gained experience & from which it would be hardly desirable to move them. No. 114 has the reputation of being good, and No. 115 is clever enough but inclined to be idle. Mr. Thompson is I believe smart enough and ought to be willing to go.
Nos. 117 & 118 are in the West and which I think might be and it would not I submit be desirable to move them.

No. 119 is away out of the Presidency in the Federal Dept. There comes the request in Forbes.

There being no doubt he considered himself to be too junior.

My dear Mr Forbes,

The Government of India has called upon this Government to furnish a junior brevetted officer for the Account Department.

I am desired by His Excellency the Governor to ask if you would like to go.

The following is what the Government of India says on the subject.

The officer selected will

SIR,

20.12.91
10.3.92

With reference to the correspondence ending with Home Department telegram of 106 dated 4th March 1891, and in view of the pressing necessity for filling an appointment in the enrolled list of the Finance Department by an officer of the Indian Civil Service, the Government of India are compelled again to ask the Madras Government for the services of a qualified officer.
An examination of the strength of the service in the several Provinces shows that the Government of Madras, notwithstanding the exceptional demands arising out of the present war, is well placed to supply an officer for the appointment and the Government of India would be glad to hear of the result.
