I estimate at Rs. 2400.

3. As suggested by Major Temple (paragraph 6 of letter to the Government of India, dated 18th May 1892), the text might consist of about 200 pages per annum. Of these, about one half will be supplied free of charge by me and my assistants. The other half would have to be paid for. As the size of the Indian Antiquary is smaller than that of Dr Burgess' Epigraphia, Rs. 2 per page will perhaps suffice. This would give an annual expenditure of about Rs. 200 for payments to authors.

in para 1 of letter to Govt. dated 3/5/92

4. The carriage of facsimiles by rail and steamer may be estimated at Rs. 100. This brings the whole estimate to Rs. 2400. Considering, however, that my figures are not based on actuals but on guesses, I suggest that a grant of Rs. 3000 might be sanctioned for next year. The estimates for the following years might be based on the actual expenditure for the past year.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Yours most obedient servant,

E. Hultzsch

Sir,

With reference to your endorsement No. 1677, dated the 26th October 1892, on the enclosed letter from the Government of India, I have the honour to submit that an annual expenditure of Rs. 3,000 will probably be sufficient for the

SIR,

(Archaeology)

31/5/92 22605

With reference to Mr. Muir-Mackenzie's letter No. 2218/17 dated 11th August last, I am directed to request that Dr. Hultzsch may be asked to submit an estimate of the yearly grant which will in future be required for the publication of the Epigraphia Indica (exclusive of the cost of printing the letter press). The annual allotment hitherto made has been Rs. 4000/ it is doubtful whether anything approaching so large a grant could be continued in future and Dr. Hultzsch should therefore frame his estimate on the most economical basis possible.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant.

Offg. Under-Secretary.
