C.S. 21/10.

Though not actually expressed this year I think it was implied that the State should not be put to any expense by the Surgeon General's coming up to the hills - like last year.

But this point was overlooked this year, and the S. G. has availed himself of the oversight - which I consider is rather sharp practice - and I would hold that the concession given to him this year - (although it differed in the amount of residence on the hills and the duration of it - was to be broken into two spells) still carries with it the condition attaching to the permission granted last year.

I would not therefore grant the claim.
