

ORDINARY, PRINTED.

Public DEPARTMENT.
G.O., DATED 12-12-92
No. 864.

INDEXED.

First copy sent to Press. 12-12-92

Returned for signature. 22-12-92

Despatched in print.

[Despatch Abstract.]

Archaeology

Remember with remark the proprietor's report of success work accomplished from July to October 92—

For CK

*E. T. ?
It is in the list
of 19/12*

Bangalore, 10th November 1892.

No. 411.

From

A. Rea, Esquire, M. R. A. S.,

Superintendent,

Archaeological Survey, Madras.

To

The Chief Secretary
to the Government of
Fort Saint George.

Sir, I have the honour to submit a progress report of survey work accomplished from July to October.

2. A survey has been made of the principal temples at Kumbakonam. There are seventeen chief temples, with others smaller and of lesser note in the town. Those at which work has been done are the large temples of Kumbesvara, Sarangaswami, Ramaswami, Nagaswara, Vanajuriswara, Kasi-visvanatha and Someswara. The work consists of survey drawings, a fine set of photographs, ^{on paper made up for} and plaster casts of ornament.

3. None of the temples are archi-tecturally

2.
architecturally so effective as Inadura and some of the other great Dravidian temples. Some of them contain good examples of carved stone work, the third mentioned temple specially so. Their outer works do not date earlier than the 17th century, and the temples have been assigned to that date. But in several of them, there are shrines and other buildings of the 11th century. These features will be fully gone into when an illustrated report comes to be written.

4. In the Kumbhēvara temple are a number of vāhanas, or vehicles for the gods, overlaid with ornamented plates of beaten gold and silver. As examples of the work of the silversmith, they and some other jewels and pūja utensils from the same temple would be specially serviceable for illustration in the Journal of Indian Art. I send thirteen prints of photographs of these, for the inspection of Government, and will if Government approves, write accompanying notes.

5. During a tour through parts of Buddapah and of Bellary, inspected for conservation, the temple at Sompalli; the fort at Siddhavattam and the cave temple

* No 393
dated 27th October 1892.

CW 2960/92

31/10/92

3.
temple at Basarakōdu. On these a separate report has been submitted. * During the course of the tour some other buildings were inspected.

6. About a mile from Basara - Kōdu, on the road to Adoni, is a cave temple of Sōmēśvara. It is a small nearly square natural cave on the side of a rocky hill. In front is a brick porch and doorway. On the rock over the shrine is a small brick tower. On an artificial platform in front is a small four pillared mandapam, and a Telugu inscription on a rock, with the letters partly flaked off by fire. A linga, some nāga and sculptured stones stand by the side of a rough stairway which leads up to the cave. The cave seems to have been used as a temple for a long period; but the accompanying buildings are modern.

7. Between the 41st and 42nd milestones on the main road running south-east of Adoni are four Vīrakas, each with three sculptured compartments.

8. About 6 miles east of Siddhavattam, on the left bank of the river near the village of Penna Peruru are two other cave temples of the same class as those above noted.

* Per book post.

They stand at the head of a gorge in a rocky hill, a mile and a half east of the village. They are natural caves in the rock, with brick built walls in front. One is dedicated to Parasimha, and the others to the Amman. On a carved stone at the former, is a Telugu inscription. A mile east of the same village is a small deserted ancient stone temple of Bhairawa. It is built on a platform on the side of a hill facing the river.

In a field close to the river and half a mile east of the village, lies a Telugu inscribed stone. It measures 5 feet by 1 foot. It is nearly buried in the earth.

9. In Vantimitta in the Siddha-vattam taluk is a large temple of Kodanda Rāmasvāmi built by the Vijayanagar kings. It stands on the south of the village near an extensive tank. It is comprised in a single court, with stone walls and brick superstructure designed in niches and pediments. There are three lofty gōpurams. Inside the principal entrance are three inscribed stones with dates 1477 and 1480. There are numbers of other inscribed stones on the floor of the courtyard. The most ornate part of the building is the mahā-mandapam which is finely carved and sculptured.

Outside the east gōpuram and facing it is a small shrine of the same date. The pillars of a porch in front are well carved.

At the north-west of the village is a small temple of Gopalasvāmi. There is an inscribed stone on the north wall.

At the east of the village some nāgakals, nandis, and other sculptured stones stand under a tree. They are occasionally worshipped.

On the hill to the west is a small pillared mandapam.

10. A number of sheets of enlarged drawings of ornament from the Amarāvati marbles in the Madras Museum were prepared to represent examples of Buddhist carving. The plates which have been published in the works on Amarāvati, are on too small a scale to serve this purpose.

11. The whole of the Bhattiprolu relics were deposited in the Madras Museum on the 8th August.

12. The completed list of Antiquities on Coorg; and notes on Dravidian architectural details for the Journal of Indian Art, have been submitted to Government.

I have the honour to be

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

A. M. S.
Superintendent.

CURRENT NO. 3168
1892.

Public

of 23^d November 1892 to 10

From

The Superintendent
Archaeological Survey
Madras

Returned for signature.

(By order)
W. W. Brodie
Asst Secy

To

The Chief Secretary
to the Government of
Fort Saint George.

386.
22/11

Dated 10th
Despatched 14th
Received 15th } November 1892.

No. 411.

Enclosures 13.
(sent separately).

Received

Subject.

Submit progress report for July to October 1892.

The 1892
Sub.	Dept.
Serial No.	To
C. No.	3519

Pls. send 3
15/11

Publ. Co. No. 861

2/12. 12. 92

The Collectors of

~~The District Magistrates of~~

Decr^d 24/12/92

Anantapur. 8
North Arcot, Chittoor. 8
South Arcot, Cuddalore. 8
Bellary. 8
South Canara, Mangalore. 8
Chingleput, Saidapet. 8
Coimbatore. 8
Cuddapah. 8
Ganjam, Chatrapur. 8
Godavari, Cocanada. 8
Kistna, Masulipatam. 8
Kurnool. 8
~~Madras (when necessary)~~
Madura. 8
Malabar, Calicut. 8
Nilgiris, Ootacamund. 8
Nellore. 8
Salem. 8
Tanjore. 8
Tinnevely. 8
Trichinopoly. 8
Vizagapatam. 8

12th December

Public C No 3168

867

Nov 30/11/92

12 NOVEMBER 1892, No. 1, PUBLIC.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper:—

From A. REA, Esq., M.R.A.S., Superintendent, Archæological Survey, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Bangalore, 10th November 1892, No. 411.

I have the honour to submit a progress report of survey work accomplished from July to October.

2. A survey has been made of the principal temples at Kumbakónam. There are seventeen chief temples, with others smaller and of lesser note in the town. Those at which work has been done are the large temples of Kumbésvara, Sarangapâni, Râmasavâmi, Nâgésvara, Vânapurésvara, Kâsivisvanâdha and Somésvara. The work consists of survey drawings, a fine set of photographs, and papier-maché moulds for plaster casts of ornament.

3. None of the temples are architecturally so effective as Madura and some of the other great Dravidian temples. Some of them contain good examples of carved stone work, the third-mentioned temple specially so. Their outer works do not date earlier than the 17th century, and the temples have been assigned to that date. But in several of them, there are shrines and other buildings of the 11th century. These features will be fully gone into when an illustrated report comes to be written.

4. In the Kumbésvara temple are a number of vâhanas, or vehicles for the gods, overlaid with ornamented plates of beaten gold and silver. As examples of the work of the silversmith, they and some other jewels and puja utensils from the same temple would be specially serviceable for illustration in the Journal of Indian Art. I send thirteen prints of photographs of these for the inspection of Government, and will, if Government approves, write accompanying notes.

5. During a tour through parts of Cuddapah and of Bellary, I inspected for conservation the temple at Sompalli, the fort at Siddhavattam, and the cave temple at Basarakôdu. On these a separate report has been submitted.* During the course of the tour some other buildings were inspected.

sp. 827
29-11-92 in the Press
* No. 393, dated 27th October 1892.

6. About a mile from Basarakôdu, on the road to Adóni, is a cave temple of Somésvara. It is a small, nearly square, natural cave on the side of a rocky hill. In front is a brick porch and doorway. On the rock over the shrine is a small brick tower. On an artificial platform in front is a small four-pillared mandapam, and a Telugu inscription on a rock, with the letters partly flaked off by fire. A linga, some nâga and sculptured stones stand by the side of a rough stairway which leads up to the cave. The cave seems to have been used as a temple for a long period; but the accompanying buildings are modern.

7. Between the 41st and 42nd milestones on the main road running south-east of Adóni are four virakals, each with three sculptured compartments.

8. About 6 miles east of Siddhavattam, on the left bank of the river near the village of Penna Perûru, are two other cave temples of the same class as those above noted. They stand at the head of a gorge in a rocky hill, a mile-and-a-half east of the village. They are natural caves in the rock, with brick-built walls in front.

One is dedicated to Narasimha, and the others to the Amman. On a carved stone at the former is a Telugu inscription. A mile east of the same village is a small, deserted, ancient stone temple of Bhairawa. It is built on a platform on the side of a hill facing the river.

In a field close to the river and half-a-mile east of the village, lies a Telugu inscribed stone. It measures 5 feet by 1 foot. It is nearly buried in the earth.

9. In Vantimitta, in the Siddhavattam taluk, is a large temple of Kodanda Rāmasvāmi built by the Vijayanagar kings. It stands on the south of the village near an extensive tank. It is comprised in a single court, with stone walls and brick superstructure designed in niches and pediments. There are three lofty gōpurams. Inside the principal entrance are three inscribed stones with dates S. 1477 and 1480. There are numbers of other inscribed stones on the floor of the courtyard. The most ornate part of the building is the Mahā mandapam, which is finely carved and sculptured.

Outside the east gōpuram and facing it is a small shrine of the same date. The pillars of a porch in front are well carved.

At the north-west of the village is a small temple of Gopalasvāmi. There is an inscribed stone on the north wall.

At the east of the village some nāgakals, nandis, and other sculptured stones stand under a tree. They are occasionally worshipped.

On the hill to the west is a small pillared mandapam.

10. A number of sheets of enlarged drawings of ornament from the Amarāvati marbles in the Madras Museum were prepared to represent examples of Buddhist carving. The plates which have been published in the works on Amarāvati are on too small a scale to serve this purpose.

11. The whole of the Bhattiprōlu relics were deposited in the Madras Museum on the 8th August.

12. The completed List of Antiquities on Coorg, and Notes on Dravidian architectural details, for the Journal of Indian Art, have been submitted to Government.

Order 12 Dec 92 A. S. B.
W. S. B.

Recorded. The Supt. should prepare the notes referred to in para 4.

8 pm

*For the Press
Take the addresses from 4/8-4/20. 7/10/6/92 copy of which is put up + a new list 12/12/12*

Usual addresses referred to.

*copy of the above
referred to in para 4.*

*S. B. B.
5/12*

Exd. A. Raith.

*C. G. 12
2.10/12*

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper:—

From A. REA, Esq., M.R.A.S., Superintendent, Archæological Survey, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Bangalore, 10th November 1892, No. 411.

I have the honour to submit a progress report of survey work accomplished from July to October.

2. A survey has been made of the principal temples at Kumbakónam. There are seventeen chief temples, with others smaller and of lesser note in the town. Those at which work has been done are the large temples of Kumbésvara, Sarangapáni, Râmasavâmi, Nâgésvara, Vânapurésvara, Kâsivisvanâdha and Somésvara. The work consists of survey drawings, a fine set of photographs, and papier-maché moulds for plaster casts of ornament.

3. None of the temples are architecturally so effective as Madura and some of the other great Dravidian temples. Some of them contain good examples of carved stone work, the third-mentioned temple specially so. Their outer works do not date earlier than the 17th century, and the temples have been assigned to that date. But in several of them, there are shrines and other buildings of the 11th century. These features will be fully gone into when an illustrated report comes to be written.

4. In the Kumbésvara temple are a number of vâhanas, or vehicles for the gods, overlaid with ornamented plates of beaten gold and silver. As examples of the work of the silversmith, they and some other jewels and puja utensils from the same temple would be specially serviceable for illustration in the Journal of Indian Art. I send thirteen prints of photographs of these for the inspection of Government, and will, if Government approves, write accompanying notes.

5. During a tour through parts of Cuddapah and of Bellary, I inspected for conservation the temple at Sompalli, the fort at Siddhavattam, and the cave temple at Basarakôdu. On these a separate report has been submitted.* During the course of the tour some other buildings were inspected.

6. About a mile from Basarakôdu, on the road to Adóni, is a cave temple of Somésvara. It is a small, nearly square, natural cave on the side of a rocky hill. In front is a brick porch and doorway. On the rock over the shrine is a small brick tower. On an artificial platform in front is a small four-pillared mandapan, and a Telugu inscription on a rock, with the letters partly flaked off by fire. A linga, some nâga and sculptured stones stand by the side of a rough stairway which leads up to the cave. The cave seems to have been used as a temple for a long period; but the accompanying buildings are modern.

7. Between the 41st and 42nd milestones on the main road running south-east of Adóni are four virakals, each with three sculptured compartments.

8. About 6 miles east of Siddhavattam, on the left bank of the river near the village of Penna Peruru, are two other cave temples of the same class as those above noted. They stand at the head of a gorge in a rocky hill, a mile-and-a-half east of the village. They are natural caves in the rock, with brick-built walls in front. One is dedicated to Narasimha, and the others to the Amman. On a carved stone at the former is a Telugu inscription. A mile east of the same village is a small, deserted, ancient stone temple of Bhairawa. It is built on a platform on the side of a hill facing the river.

In a field close to the river and half-a-mile east of the village, lies a Telugu inscribed stone. It measures 5 feet by 1 foot. It is nearly buried in the earth.

9. In Vantimitta, in the Siddhavattam taluk, is a large temple of Kodanda Rāmasvāmi built by the Vijayanagar kings. It stands on the south of the village near an extensive tank. It is comprised in a single court, with stone walls and brick superstructure designed in niches and pediments. There are three lofty gōpurams. Inside the principal entrance are three inscribed stones with dates S. 1477 and 1480. There are numbers of other inscribed stones on the floor of the courtyard. The most ornate part of the building is the Mahā mandapam, which is finely carved and sculptured.

Outside the east gōpuram and facing it is a small shrine of the same date. The pillars of a porch in front are well carved.

At the north-west of the village is a small temple of Gopalasvāmi. There is an inscribed stone on the north wall.

At the east of the village some nāgakals, nandis, and other sculptured stones stand under a tree. They are occasionally worshipped.

On the hill to the west is a small pillared mandapam.

10. A number of sheets of enlarged drawings of ornament from the Amarāvati marbles in the Madras Museum were prepared to represent examples of Buddhist carving. The plates which have been published in the works on Amarāvati are on too small a scale to serve this purpose.

11. The whole of the Bhattiprōlu relics were deposited in the Madras Museum on the 8th August.

12. The completed List of Antiquities on Coorg, and Notes on Dravidian architectural details, for the Journal of Indian Art, have been submitted to Government.

ORDER—dated 12th December 1892, No. 861, Public.

Recorded. The Superintendent should prepare the notes referred to in paragraph 4.

(True Extract.)

To the Superintendent, Archaeological Survey. 6 w M 13 D H Chief Secretary.
 „ the Superintendent, Central Museum. 6
 „ Dr. E. Hultzsch, Government Epigraphist. 6
 „ all Collectors. 173

Copy to the Secretary, Royal Asiatic Society, London. /
 „ the Secretary, Royal Asiatic Society, Ceylon Branch. /
 „ the Secretary, Royal Institute of British Architects,
 9, Conduit Street, Hanover Square, London, W. /
 „ the President, Asiatic Society, Bengal. 3
 „ the Secretary, Madras Literary Society. 3
 „ R. Sewell, Esq., Madras Civil Service. 3
 „ Dr. J. Burgess, C.I.E., care of India Office. /
 „ V. A. Smith, Esq., Bengal Civil Service. 3
 „ Dr. Rost, Librarian, India Office. /
 „ A. C. MacDonald, Esq., Deputy Keeper of the Indian Institute, Oxford. /
 „ J. F. Fleet, Esq., B.C.S., C.I.E., Acting Commissioner, S.D., Bombay. 3
 „ Dr. G. Oppert, Madras. 3
 „ the Archaeological Commissioner for Ceylon. 3
 „ Henry Cousens, Esq., Superintendent, Archaeological Survey of Western India, Poona. 3
 „ Rev. Dr. W. Miller, C.I.E., Principal, Christian College, Madras. 3
 „ Professor G. Bühler, L.L.D., C.I.E., 22, Stefanie Gasse Ober Döbling, Vienna. /
 „ Pandit Natesa Sastri, M.F.L.S. 3

Exd. A. Raitt

Issued

Recd.

Encl.

G.O., 12th Dec. 1892, No. 861.

DECEMBER.

Archæology.

Recording, with remark, the progress report of survey work accomplished from July to October 1892.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper :—

From A. REA, Esq., M.R.A.S., Superintendent, Archæological Survey, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Bangalore, 10th November 1892, No. 411.

I have the honour to submit a progress report of survey work accomplished from July to October.

2. A survey has been made of the principal temples at Kumbakónam. There are seventeen chief temples, with others smaller and of lesser note in the town. Those at which work has been done are the large temples of Kumbêśvara, Sarangapâni, Râmasavâmi, Nâgêśvara, Vânapurêśvara, Kâsivisvanâdha and Somêśvara. The work consists of survey drawings, a fine set of photographs, and papier-maché moulds for plaster casts of ornament.

3. None of the temples are architecturally so effective as Madura and some of the other great Dravidian temples. Some of them contain good examples of carved stone work, the third-mentioned temple specially so. Their outer works do not date earlier than the 17th century, and the temples have been assigned to that date. But in several of them, there are shrines and other buildings of the 11th century. These features will be fully gone into when an illustrated report comes to be written.

4. In the Kumbêśvara temple are a number of vâhanas, or vehicles for the gods, overlaid with ornamented plates of beaten gold and silver. As examples of the work of the silversmith, they and some other jewels and puja utensils from the same temple would be specially serviceable for illustration in the Journal of Indian Art. I send thirteen prints of photographs of these for the inspection of Government, and will, if Government approves, write accompanying notes.

5. During a tour through parts of Cuddapah and of Bellary, I inspected for conservation the temple at Sompalli, the fort at Siddhavattam, and the cave temple at Basarakôdu. On these a separate report has been submitted.* During the course of the tour some other buildings were inspected.

* No. 393, dated 27th October 1892.

6. About a mile from Basarakôdu, on the road to Adóni, is a cave temple of Somêśvara. It is a small, nearly square, natural cave on the side of a rocky hill. In front is a brick porch and doorway. On the rock over the shrine is a small brick tower. On an artificial platform in front is a small four-pillared mandapam, and a Telugu inscription on a rock, with the letters partly flaked off by fire. A linga, some nâga and sculptured stones stand by the side of a rough stairway which leads up to the cave. The cave seems to have been used as a temple for a long period; but the accompanying buildings are modern.

7. Between the 41st and 42nd milestones on the main road running south-east of Adóni are four vîrakals, each with three sculptured compartments.

8. About 6 miles east of Siddhavattam, on the left bank of the river near the village of Penna Peruru, are two other cave temples of the same class as those above noted. They stand at the head of a gorge in a rocky hill, a mile-and-a-half east of the village. They are natural caves in the rock, with brick-built walls in front. One is dedicated to Narasimha, and the others to the Amman. On a carved stone at the former is a Telugu inscription. A mile east of the same village is a small, deserted, ancient stone temple of Bhairawa. It is built on a platform on the side of a hill facing the river.

In a field close to the river and half-a-mile east of the village, lies a Telugu inscribed stone. It measures 5 feet by 1 foot. It is nearly buried in the earth.

9. In Vantimitta, in the Siddhavattam taluk, is a large temple of Kodanda Rāmasvāmi built by the Vijayanagar kings. It stands on the south of the village near an extensive tank. It is comprised in a single court, with stone walls and brick superstructure designed in niches and pediments. There are three lofty gōpurams. Inside the principal entrance are three inscribed stones with dates S. 1477 and 1480. There are numbers of other inscribed stones on the floor of the courtyard. The most ornate part of the building is the Mahā mandapam, which is finely carved and sculptured.

Outside the east gōpuram and facing it is a small shrine of the same date. The pillars of a porch in front are well carved.

At the north-west of the village is a small temple of Gopalasvāmi. There is an inscribed stone on the north wall.

At the east of the village some nāgakals, nandis, and other sculptured stones stand under a tree. They are occasionally worshipped.

On the hill to the west is a small pillared mandapam.

10. A number of sheets of enlarged drawings of ornament from the Amarāvati marbles in the Madras Museum were prepared to represent examples of Buddhist carving. The plates which have been published in the works on Amarāvati are on too small a scale to serve this purpose.

11. The whole of the Bhattiprōlu relics were deposited in the Madras Museum on the 8th August.

12. The completed List of Antiquities on Coorg, and Notes on Dravidian architectural details, for the Journal of Indian Art, have been submitted to Government.

ORDER—dated 12th December 1892, No. 861, Public.

Recorded. The Superintendent should prepare the notes referred to in paragraph 4.

(True Extract.)

J. F. PRICE,
Chief Secretary.

To the Superintendent, Archaeological Survey.
„ the Superintendent, Central Museum.
„ Dr. E. Hultzsch, Government Epigraphist.
„ all Collectors.

Copy to the Secretary, Royal Asiatic Society, London.
„ the Secretary, Royal Asiatic Society, Ceylon Branch.
„ the Secretary, Royal Institute of British Architects,
9, Conduit Street, Hanover Square, London, W.
„ the President, Asiatic Society, Bengal.
„ the Secretary, Madras Literary Society.
„ R. Sewell, Esq., Madras Civil Service.
„ Dr. J. Burgess, c.i.e., care of India Office.
„ V. A. Smith, Esq., Bengal Civil Service.
„ Dr. Rost, Librarian, India Office.
„ A. C. MacDonald, Esq., Deputy Keeper of the Indian Institute, Oxford.
„ J. F. Fleet, Esq., B.A., c.i.e., Acting Commissioner, S.D., Bombay.
„ Dr. G. Oppert, Madras.
„ the Archaeological Commissioner for Ceylon.
„ Henry Cousens, Esq., Superintendent, Archaeological Survey of Western India, Poona.
„ Rev. Dr. W. Miller, c.i.e., Principal, Christian College, Madras.
„ Professor G. Bühler, L.L.D., c.i.e., 22, Stefanie Gasse Ober Döbling, Vienna.
„ Pandit Natesa Sastri, M.F.I.S.

Editors' Table.

Exd. A. Raitt.

Gobt. of {1892} Madras.
PUBLIC.

Issued

Recd.

Encl.

G.O., 12th Dec. 1892, No. 861.

DECEMBER.

Archæology.

Recording, with remark, the progress report of survey work accomplished from July to October 1892.

READ AGAIN ORDER OF GOVERNMENT, DATE
18 J. No.

ENCLOSURES.

CURRENT No.

Proof — A.

STATEMENT WITH DITTO.

ORDER, &c., OF GOVERNMENT—A.

PAPERS KEPT OUT OF FILE FOR DESPATCH IN ORIGINAL
(not paged.)

NUMBER OF COPIES REQUIRED. { Order complete. 320.
Letter only.
Order complete with Letter.

N.B.—
A = Print in full.
B = Not to be printed.
P = Print abstract only.
Q = Print heading only.
R = Print, but not for monthly volume.

BACK PAPER, No.

OF 18

FURTHER PAPER, No.

OF 18

For the Press
Shew front-plate
R.D.

Defr
Return photos to Sup. Arch. Sur. see please
R.D.
12/12