[illegible]

[The page contains handwritten Telugu script, which appears to be bleed-through from the reverse side of the leaf.]

Handwritten text in Tamil script, likely a historical document or manuscript.
