The actual food, seen by us, was of fair quality, but badly cooked, although, in addition to the ill-treatment the coolies received, the most of them said "they threw over-board the rice they got." I think the whole matter deserves a searching investigation, at any rate a special report to Government.

LETTER—to the Colonial Secretary, Mauritius, dated Ootacamund, 20th May 1893,
No. 407, Public.

I am directed to forward a copy of the remarks of the Protector of Emigrants, Madras, on the emigrants who returned from Mauritius and Réunion in the S.S. Warora last month, and of the Medical Inspector's report referred to therein, and to invite special attention to the conduct of Dr. Keisler and the Compounder Mr. Cantin which appears to have been reprehensible in the extreme and to call for severe notice.

2. I am to observe also that the conduct of the Commander of the Warora seems not to have been free from blame, as, had he exercised the supervision which his position required of him, he could not have failed to have become aware of the mal-treatment to which the coolies were subjected and which it was his duty to by all means in his power prevent.

J. F. PRICE,
Chief Secretary.

ENLORSEMENT—dated 20th May 1893, No. 408, Public.

Copy to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department.

Chief Secretary.

Remarks by the Protector of Emigrants.

The S.S. Warora arrived here from the Mauritius with return coolies for Madras and Calcutta on the 23rd April 1893 (Sunday) and the Captain reported himself to me on the morning of the 24th instant, and the landing of the Madras coolies took place immediately. They were made up of 58 Réunion and 259 Mauritius coolies. Forty-two of the Mauritius people paid their passage back, 28 went to hospital, and the rest were returned to their respective places. Three of the Réunion coolies died during the voyage and one immediately after landing. There were two lepers among the Mauritius coolies. The savings brought by the coolies are as follow:—

Mauritius Coolies.
Above 10 and below 50 rupees	..	1
" 50 " 100 "	..	2
" 100 " 200 "	..	6
" 200 " 500 "	..	2
" 500 " 700 "	..	4
And one man brought 950 rupees.

Réunion Coolies.
Above 10 and below 50 francs	..	3
" 50 " 100 "	..	2
" 100 " 300 "	..	2
This is according to the nominal roll of these coolies, but from the letter received from the H. B. M. Consul, Réunion, it appears that 15 adults have brought with them 2,912 francs.

All the coolies looked very unhealthy, and the Réunion people were worse than their Mauritius comrades. With the exception of three women, they unanimously complained of the singularly bad treatment they had experienced on board at the hands of the medical officers, and more especially at those of Compounder Cantin. The rice and dhol supplied to them were, they said, of the very worst type, and the major portion of what was given them they had invariably to throw over-board. The Medical Inspector and myself personally inspected some of the rice and dhol brought on shore by the coolies and found that their quality was medium, but that both had been badly cooked. Some of them, about half a dozen, fared worse, in that they had been burnt with a heated iron poker in different parts of their bodies by Compounder Cantin. I saw the burns myself and asked Mr. Cantin to explain the matter. He admitted having burnt them, but said that it was purely accidental. One of the branded coolies said that he had been locked up for three hours in a water-closet for making a noise about being burnt, and the Surgeon-Superintendent Dr. Keisler admitted that he had allowed it. The Captain of the ship told me he knew nothing about it, and the conduct of the Surgeon-Superintendent in doing this without the sanction of the Captain was, I think, very reprehensible. The Captain told me further that he had heard nothing whatever about the ill-treatment the coolies had been getting at the hands of Compounder Cantin. Probably they were under the apprehension that a report against the doctors would entail on them still worse treatment. Copies of the statements of five of the coolies as to the food and burns are herein enclosed. There were also several complaints by the coolies of having been kicked and otherwise badly treated by Mr. Cantin. I have no doubt whatever that these coolies were treated in a manner extremely harsh and grossly neglected. Compounder Cantin is of course most to blame, but this ill-treatment would probably never have occurred if the Surgeon-Superintendent had exercised that amount of care which his duty and the circumstances of the case demanded. I therefore think that Doctor Keisler is guilty of indifference and laxity of supervision, and this opinion of mine is confirmed by the fact that such a large number of coolies had to be sent to hospital, and that all of them with scarcely an exception looked poor. This is the first time that I have come across such a miserable lot and the first time that I have received from them such serious complaints. The matter deserves the consideration of Government and I beg to report it for such action as Government may be pleased to take.

Copy of the Medical Inspector's report on the subject is also enclosed.

ENCLOSURES.

Statement of Dharman, son of Sahalevan of Deshin, Wandiwash.

I was a return emigrant from the Mauritius in the S.S. Warora. I show a scar of a burn on my right hand above the wrist. It was done by the Doctor I pointed out to you yesterday (Compounder Cantin). He did it deliberately. I was suffering from head-ache and went to ask him for medicine. He was stirring the fire with a piece of wood and he burnt me with that. I can't say why he was angry with me. I simply asked him for medicine and he did this. The rice was badly cooked and was not good. There was enough of it. Sometimes we got meat, sometimes we did not. The Doctor also looked me up for three hours in a water-closet. This was because I made a noise about being burnt. They gave me no rice that day. This is all.

(Signed) W. AUSTIN,
Protector of Emigrants.

Statement of Yellammal, wife of Parasaramudu.

I am an immigrant from the Mauritius. I paid my own passage. I went to ask for some coffee as I was sick. The Doctor I pointed out yesterday (Compounder Cantin) would not give me any coffee, but burnt me on the leg with an iron poker he was stirring the fire with. There were a lot of people asking for things and he drove them all away with this hot iron. Nothing else was done to me. The food was badly cooked. We got no soup. We got no rice and dhol. We got no meat nor salt-fish.

(Signed) W. AUSTIN,
Protector of Emigrants.

Statement of Abdul Qadir, son of Meanee of Vellathen.

I was burnt by the Doctor I pointed out yesterday (Compounder Cantin). I went to ask him for some medicine for my wife who was very sick and thereupon he burnt me on the leg with an iron poker. The rice was bad. I got no meat. I got some salt-fish and pumpkin. I was a return emigrant at Government expense.

(Signed) W. AUSTIN,
Protector of Emigrants.

Statement of Kullam, son of Thoppagan of Trivendrapuram, South Arcot.

I was burnt on the foot by the Doctor I pointed out yesterday with an iron poker. I went to him to ask for congee. There was a large crowd. I went first. Thereupon he burnt me. He did it deliberately to drive me away from the place.

(Signed) W. AUSTIN,
Protector of Emigrants.

Statement of Ramasami, son of Ramasami of Olittoor.

I was a return emigrant from Mauritius at Government expense. I was burnt in two places on the leg by the Doctor I pointed out yesterday. I was ill and went to him for medicine and he seized hold of the iron poker and telling me to go away burnt me. This was all that was done to me. The food was very bad. No meat. I got no salt-fish. Only dhol and rice. No soup.

Protector of Emigrants.

Copy of the Medical Inspector's letter, dated 25th April 1893, No. 3, to the Protector of Emigrants.

In continuation of our official and personal inspection of the coolies that returned from the Mauritius, I have the honour to inform you that, before our arrival at the shed, 20 men were sent to the Native Infirmary, two among them being lepers. On questioning them, they one and all (except the two lepers) complain of the ill-treatment they received from the Doctor of the ship and his Assistant, i.e., that if they asked for congee or for help they were abused and beaten. One of the men was branded, in fact the sick in my hospital state exactly what many of the coolies informed us at our inspection. Nearly all the coolies landed were more or less invalids, as you yourself saw, requiring special care and attention from the medical men appointed and paid to do so; and I verily believe that the Surgeon of the ship has totally neglected his important duty and that his Assistant has been guilty of wanton cruelty.

2. I am to observe also that the conduct of the Commander of the "Warora" seems not to have been free from blame. as, had he exercised the supervision which his position required of him, he could not have failed to have become aware of the maltreatment to which the coolies were subjected and which it was his duty to prevent.

HP

This appears to have been a most disgraceful business and the coolies seem to have been shamefully treated. The Surgeon and his compounder appear to have been mainly responsible for what occurred. He kept the master of the ship up to him and had his eyes about him in the least as it was his duty to have watched and not have become aware of what was going on. He was either very careless or else he winked at the conduct of the ship and his subordinates as regards the responsibilities of the master for ensuring the comfort well being and good treatment of the coolies please see 12 & 23 of the contract. Should copies of these papers go to the G.O.S?

Notes

Para 23 of the contract with the master of the vessel lays down that if the master in any manner ill-treats any immigrant on board or suffers any immigrant to be ill-treated, he shall render himself liable to forfeit either a part or the whole of the stipulated passage money as the authorities in India may deem it just to direct. In this case, however, the master says he knew nothing of the ill-treatment and the only course open to Government seems to be to call to attention of the Colonial Govt to the matter.
