events to add to para 124.

3. The Government find pages 78-82 still correct, and I have nothing to propose for addition to the work once done. But no doubt an editor going through the "Handbook of Procedure and Precedents" with his pencil in detail might find various incidental points to add, perhaps many. I have perused that volume much to my own advantage.

CURRENT 1473

From C. D. Maclean Esq.

To the Chief Secretary to Government Public Department

Sir,

1. I have the honor to reply to para 2 (b) and (c) of G.O. No. 109, Public dated 9th February 1893.
2. Pages (110) to (188) of manual Vol I are a complete monograph I believe and I have nothing to add to them. A certain amount of supplementary information especially in connection with the first half of the Section has arisen out of the glossary treatment and will be found in Vol III expected to appear before the end of August next, but this does not affect the matter in Vol I viewed as a monograph. I am not aware of any it stands. Where are the further orders mentioned in the last line of 9.9.2.93. No 109? I don't find them. The matter must be put properly in train. We have not got too much time in front of us.

How can be done

None has been passed yet. Please see notes in D.O. 16-3-93 no 116. Probably it was thought that this could be done in receipt of an offl. reply from Dr. Macleane. It seems rather awkward to issue one now. We can lend fortnightly or even weekly reminders & get in the replies to 9.9.2.93 no 109. Those received can be transferred to Dr. Macleane. So far as he is concerned the D.O. above quoted settles the matter.
Please speak to the As. Judicial & Legislative Depu. as regards para 2 & sign of the order.
If the course suggested is approved please has

I have been very doubtful about this. D. M. has replied officially in C. N. 1473 and he expects two or three before the end of August. If so & if he relates them, as he said he would, then the transfer of the papers to him is useless. You had better raise the point again in a Note in Order as to how to edit this standing information, when dealing with C. N. 1473. C. 2/5

Quoted settles the matter.
Please speak to the Judicial & Legislative Dept.
as regards para 2 & 1/2 of the order.
