1. Any Archaeological Drawings or Photographs considered to be suitable by Archaeological Surveyors for the Technical Art Series will be forwarded in the first instance by them to the Assistant Surveyor General in charge, Photo. and Litho. Office, Calcutta.

2. The Assistant Surveyor General will, in consultation with the Principal of the Calcutta School of Art, select those which appear most suitable for the purposes of the series, returning the others to the Archaeological Surveyors.

3. After reproduction of the selected drawings in the Technical Art Series, the originals will be returned by the Assistant Surveyor General to the Archaeological Surveyors from whom he received them.

4. The Assistant Surveyor General will issue for the Technical Art Series not less than 12 drawings per annum. They will be distributed by the Assistant Surveyor General in accordance with a list prescribed by the Government of India as well as with indents received.

5. Archaeological Surveyors will in due course send the whole series of their drawings to the editor (Dr. Burgess) of the archaeological reports being published in England, so far as the drawings relate to those reports. They will indicate which drawings have been selected for reproduction in Calcutta.

6. Spare issues of the Technical Art Series should not be sent to Dr. Burgess unless asked for by him. Should any be required by him for incorporation in the archaeological reports, the Assistant Surveyor General should send him 500 copies of each, after making the necessary corrections in the headings, numbering, etc.

7. In any instance in which the Assistant Surveyor General is satisfied that the retention of the original drawings will inconvenience Dr. Burgess, he is at liberty to send the originals to Dr. Burgess for reproduction in England. In such cases Dr. Burgess will send 561 copies (or any such number as may be subsequently determined) of the plates reproduced in England to the Assistant Surveyor General for distribution in India, and ten copies to the India Office for the use of the Right Honourable the Secretary of State.

8. Originals of all drawings of any kind supplied to him should be ultimately filed by Dr. Burgess or the Archaeological Surveyors in the Indian Museum at Calcutta.

9. All copper-plates prepared under the direction of the Assistant Surveyor General will, unless for special reasons they are required in England, be retained in the Survey Office.
