CHIEF SECRETARY
GOVERNMENT C. 11/3

Forwarding copies of correspondence between the as District Judge and the Accountant-General and requesting that Government may be pleased under Act: 198 C.S.R. to extend his joining time up to 8 January 1893 -

Chief Secretary informed me either in person or by demi official letter that it was the desire of Government that I should take as much joining time as I could and avoid if possible causing Mr. Raza Khan who was acting for me at Vellore to revert.

The length of my joining time to Mangalore depended upon the probable date of sailing of the steamer from Calicut and this could not be at once ascertained. I however on the morning before I left Madras had an interview with the Chief Secretary, Mr. Price, on the subject. I then thought and I was distinctly under the impression that the Chief Secretary thought that if my joining time extended into the Amas holidays, I need not join until after their close. In this view of the matter it was apparently unnecessary that I should join at Vellore at all, and the Chief Secretary instructed me that I need not do so. He added that if the question was raised hereafter I might quote this conversation with him as my authority for not doing so. as it was the desire of Government to avoid the unnecessary transfer of Mr. Raza Khan.

3. I had however to proceed to Vellore to arrange about the disposal of my belongings there and as I could obtain no definite information from the Agents about the date of the steamer's departure from Calicut, I with the object of avoiding the necessity of a reference to Government to extend my joining time took over formal charge from Mr. Raza Khan on the 13th December and handed it back on the 14th December and I informed the Chief Secretary that I had done so.

I would submit therefore that as I acted directly under Government instructions the object of which was to avoid unnecessary transfers, Government may be pleased to extend my joining time as requested above -

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedt. servt.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward herewith copies of a correspondence between myself and the Accountant General and to request that Government may be pleased under Article 198 Civ. Service Regulations to extend my joining time up to January 8th 1893.

2. The circumstances under which I make this application are as follows:-

On the afternoon of December 3rd 1892.
I handed over charge of the District Court Buddapaah and proceeded to Madras on my way to join my permanent appointment of Sub Collector North Arcot at Vellore. Almost immediately after my arrival in Madras I received a letter devis official I believe - from the Chief Secretary informing me that I was appointed to act as District and Session Judge South Canara and instructing me that I was not to join until after the Amos holidays. A day or so subsequently the

To

C. J. Weir Esquire
As District Judge,
South Canara, Mangalore.

Sir,

With reference to your letter No. 10, dated the 8th February 1893, I have the honor to state that as you took charge of the Sub Collector's Office, Villore, on the forenoon of the 13th December 1892, you should have made over charge of it on such a date that your joining time to Mangalore would not have been exceeded. As however you made over charge on the 14th Idem and took charge on the 9th January 93, you overstayed your joining time by 13 days for which you are not entitled to any allowance unless Government consider it necessary to extend your joining time upto 8th January 93 for the public convenience under article 198 of the Civil Service Regulations.

The above calculation is made on the assumption that you did not travel on Sunday the 18th December 1892. If it was spent in travelling, you will be considered to have overstayed by 14 days.
