Sir, With reference to your letter dated the 17th March 1893, I have the honor to state that on handing over charge of office to your Sheristadar on the last working day before recess, you will continue to be held as Dist.
Judge of Kurnool, and in case the Government of India permits you to add furlough to recess without returning to India, the making over charge of office to your Sheristadar will have other effects than to enable him to pass on the charge to your successor. In the contrary event should you have proceeded to Europe, your furlough would begin from the date on which you made over charge, but should you be so in India, you would be at liberty to resume charge and would be considered to have been absent on vacation only.
