Proceedings of the Board of Revenue

(Land Revenue),

Dated 21st December 1893.

Forest No. 1644. Miscellaneous.

~~Read~~ Resolution.

The preparation of a second edition of the Madras Forest Code was sanctioned by Government so far back as 1888 - vide G.O. dated 25th September 1888, Miscellaneous no. 5703 Revenue. This work is very imperative, both because the existing edition is completely out of date - having been modified in very many important respects by recent orders and because not a single spare copy of it is available for supply, a fact which will cause great inconvenience when the proposed increase to the subordinate establishments is sanctioned. But notwithstanding - standing the urgent necessity for the work, its compilation has had to be greatly postponed owing to the want of a competent officer who could devote adequate time and attention to it.

Sub. 173
REVENUE

2. In paragraph 5 of Board's Proceedings, dated 27th November 1891, Forest no. 502, the Board recommends that in view of the relief afforded to the Examiner of Forest Accounts by the re-constitution of the Forest circles, Mr. Douglas, the late Examiner of Forest Accounts, should take up the work and complete it before his departure on leave in April 1892. This recommendation was approved by Government in its order, dated 22nd January 1892, miscellaneous no. 432.

3. During the short interval then afforded to Mr. Douglas, he compiled a hurriedly got up draft of a second edition of the Code in which he himself anticipated many shortcomings. His draft was then circulated to the Conservators and the Accountant-General for remarks. But neither the Conservator nor the Accountant-General, who, it must be remembered, were then unacquainted with the audit of forest accounts, were able to give much assistance to the Board in revising the code. Mr. Cherry, the Conservator of Forests, Southern circle, stated that with the pressure of other work it was impossible to give the code revision that time and attention which it required, but considered that Mr. Douglas' draft was capable of a very great deal of improvement not only in its general arrangement but more especially in the system of accounts.

was

4. From the above, it will be seen that Mr. Douglas' draft would in any case require considerable overhauling. Moreover since it was drafted, several important orders relating to various points in the code have been issued from time to time by Government and the Board - wide list appended to this proceedings - while the Accountant-General's audit of forest accounts and their periodical inspection by the Local & State Agency disclose shortcomings which necessitate numerous modifications in the provisions of the code relating to accounts. An effort should also be made, the Board thinks, to bring the Madras code into conformity with the India code as far as possible; and the numerous code forms and appendices which are now very bulky should be reduced.

5. All this, with of course involve a very large amount of time and labour, which the Board's Secretary in the Land Revenue Department, cannot under present circumstances, spare. Seeing the urgency of there is for the compilation of the revised code, the Board begs to recommend that Government will be pleased to depute a special officer who can devote his full time to the work with a view to its being completed at an early date. For this duty the Board would respectfully suggest the name of Mr. R. C. C. Carr who has long been familiar with forest affairs as Under Secretary to Government, and has also had some experience of the forest work in the Board's office.
