the figures for the years prior to 1893 are also the number registered. The method adopted in previous years and not objected to by Government was followed this year, but in future the number of actual embarkations (including the number of those remaining on hand at the end of the previous year who embarked in the year under review) will be given in the Statement.

were adopted, and were accepted this, at the same time instructing the Collectors Concerned (in para 14 of that Government order) to guard against such discrepancies in future. This year steps were taken by the Board to get discrepancies reconciled before its report was submitted.

3. In para 11 of the Government order under reply, it is remarked that the figures furnished by the Board in para 17 of its report, showing the total number of Emigrants for 1893, is the number registered instead of the number that actually embarked. The Statement given in that paragraph is a comparative one of the figures for 10 years, and a reference to the reports for previous years will show that the

2. With reference to para 10 of Government order of 6th June instanc, no 398, the Board begs to point out to Government that the very great differences in the figures of non-regulated Emigration given by the collectors in their quarterly and in their annual reports were brought to notice in para 13 of last year's report disposed of in Government order dated 7th June 1893 no 44. The figures given in their annual reports were
