[Reference—G.O., No. 253, Public, dated 12th April 1892, regarding the survey training of Junior Civilians.]

I have the honour to submit for approval the following proposals for the survey training of Junior Civilians. If these proposals are approved, one survey school can be held at Bellary and another in Madura in June 1895. Next year, three schools can be held in May and June as mentioned in paragraph 2 of the proposals:—

Proposed Rules for the Survey Training of Junior Civilians.

1. G.O., No. 253, Public, dated 12th April 1892, directs that Junior Civilians should undergo a month's practical training in surveying when an Assistant Collector has attained six months' standing.

2. Civilians generally arrive in India in November or December. Three survey schools, each lasting one month, could be held at convenient centres during the months of May and June. The dates of opening and closing of the schools and the places at which they are to be held could be fixed by the Board and notified for information of Collectors early in April. They might be so arranged that should an Assistant Collector be unable to attend the nearest survey school, he could attend some other survey school as convenient.

3. Each school would be superintended by the Survey officer in charge of the division in which the school is held—G.O., Mis. No. 152, dated 23rd April 1895. The course of instruction would be—

1st.—That prescribed for Karnams, which comprises the use of the following instruments:—

Chain.
Cross-staff.
Offset pole.

Plotting and offset scales.
Area square.

This would take not more than one week.

2nd.—The additional course usually gone through by Revenue Inspectors comprising the use of the following instruments :—

Prismatic compass.	Plane table.
Protractor.	Computing scale.

This would take another week.

3rd.—The use of the—

Theodolite.	Diagonal scale.
Vernier scale.

4. While learning the use of the instruments mentioned above, the method of preparation and practical use of the following survey records should be thoroughly taught, and the means of testing their accuracy fully explained :—

(1) Village map.	(3) Field register.
(2) Field measurement book.	(4) Area list.

5. The Survey officer should take the class of Junior Civilians with him to one or more villages and examine the survey records on the ground on at least fifteen days during the course of instruction.

Resolution—dated 5th June 1895, Mis. No. 2810.

APPENDIX.

(1) Independently of the examination in survey which is prescribed for the higher standard, Junior Civilians must undergo a month's practical training in surveying, and no officer will be entitled to receive the increased allowance of a "passed Assistant" until he has completed this practical course and received the required certificate.

(2) Survey schools, each lasting one month, are held at convenient centres during the months of May and June. The dates of opening and closing the schools and the places at which they are to be held are fixed by the Board of Revenue and notified for the information of Collectors early in April.

(3) The most suitable time for practical training in survey work will ordinarily be when an Assistant has attained six months' standing. Before an Assistant has reached that period of his service, he should submit a request to be attached to a survey party. The Collector will forward the application through the Superintendent, Revenue Survey, for the sanction of the Board of Revenue. The Superintendent of Survey in forwarding it will state to which school the Assistant may, in his opinion, be most conveniently attached.

(4) On sanction being given for an Assistant to join a survey party, his Collector will make arrangements to relieve him of his ordinary duties during the period of training.

(5) Assistants shall, on joining a survey party, report themselves to the Collector of the district where the party is working.

(7) The course of instruction is as follows :—

(i) That prescribed for Karnams, which lasts about one week and comprises the use of the following instruments :—

Chain, cross-staff, offset pole, plotting and offset scales, area square.

Prismatic compass, protractor, plane table, computing scale.

This course also lasts for about one week.

(iii) The use of the—

While learning the use of the instruments mentioned above, the method of preparation and practical use of the following survey records and the means of testing their accuracy have to be thoroughly acquired :—

(1) Village maps, (2) Field measurement book, (3) Field register, and (4) Area list.

The Survey officer will take the class of Junior Civilians with him to one or more villages and examine the survey records on the ground on at least 15 days during the course of instruction.

(8) After an Assistant Collector has satisfactorily completed his prescribed course, a certificate in the Form A appended shall be prepared by the officer in charge of the party and forwarded for countersignature to the Superintendent of Revenue Survey, whose duty it will be to satisfy himself, as far as possible, that the certificate is correct and that the time passed with the party has been profitably employed :—

There are now only two Survey Parties at work in the which Assistant Collectors can conveniently be trained.

Three Parties are working in South Canara and Malabar inconveniently far from most of the other districts and more or less inaccessible during the S.W. monsoon. The other Parties are broken up into ~~into~~ sections employed in redemarcation and reserve survey under native or East Indian Deputy collectors with whom it is not possible to arrange for the satisfactory instruction of Assistant collectors.

3. Two Officers have recently applied to go through the course of instruction. Mr. Mac Iner, Head Assistant collector, Vellore, who wants to be trained in a similar District G.O. No. 4 dated + and Mr. Harris, Assistant collector, Ganjam. If my proposals are approved, school can be held next month (June) at Madura and Bellary which any Assistant collectors who are to be trained can be directed by telegraph to attend.
