Provided, that if the salt was carried in the lower hold only and the hatches between the upper deck and the ‘tween deck were battened all round at the sides during the discharge of the salt cargo from such hold, such vessel may be permitted to embark emigrants within fourteen days of the date of such discharge.

“Provided, also that in no case shall any vessel which has carried a salt cargo on such previous voyage be permitted to embark emigrants without the consent in writing of the Protector of Emigrants, who may, if he considers that the state of the vessel is likely to affect injuriously the health of the emigrants, postpone their embarkation for such time as to him may seem necessary.

“When any salt was carried by the vessel in the ‘tween decks, the master of the vessel shall on the day after the discharge of the salt has been completed, furnish to the Protector of Emigrants for his satisfaction a certificate that such discharge has been so completed.”
