PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper:—

From Commandant T. R. TABUTEAU, Bangalore Rifle Volunteers, to the Deputy Adjutant-General, Madras Command (through Bangalore District), dated 10th January 1896, No. 479.

I have the honour to request you will inform me under what paragraph of Army Regulations, India, Volume IX, "Volunteers", officers of the Indian Volunteer Forces can be attached to another Volunteer corps in India.

The General Officer Commanding the District would like to know why you ask this question.

BANGALORE, (Signed) G. B. STEVENS, Major,
14th January 1896. Asst. Adjutant-General, Bangalore District.

To the Commandant, Bangalore Rifle Volunteers.

A Volunteer officer of another corps having applied to be attached to the Bangalore Rifle Volunteers, I am desirous of knowing under what paragraph I should apply to have this officer attached.

BANGALORE, (Signed) T. R. TABUTEAU, Commandant,
15th January 1896. Bangalore Rifle Volunteers.

To the Assistant Adjutant-General, Bangalore District.

No. A-352.

Forwarded for favour of a reply.

BANGALORE, (Signed) M. W. E. GOSSET, Brigadier-General,
25th January 1896. Commanding Bangalore District.

To the Deputy Adjutant-General.

No. O-667.

Forwarded. There is apparently no regulation governing the case, but there appears to be no objection to it provided the previous approval of the General Officers Commanding concerned is obtained and no expense is incurred.

OOTACAMUND, (Signed) C. M. CLARKE, Lieutenant-General,
3rd February 1896. Commanding the Forces, Madras (on tour).

To the Chief Secretary to Government.

ORDER—No. 217, Public, dated 12th February 1896.

The Government agrees with the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces. In the recent case of Captain Stranack, Madras Volunteer Guards, whom it was proposed to attach to the Malabar Volunteer Rifles, the Government in approving remarked that no notification seemed necessary. Such cases could well be settled by General Officers Commanding and Commandants concerned.
