READ—the following paper:—

From Lieutenant-Colonel E. G. BARROW, Officiating Deputy Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, to the Principal Medical Officer, Her Majesty's Forces in India, dated Simla, 10th June 1896, No. 2822-D.

In reply to your letter, No. 1182, dated the 16th May 1896, I am directed to say, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that the Government of India approve of paragraph 200, Army Regulations, India, Volume VI, being reconstructed as follows:—

"Whenever it becomes desirable, as a temporary measure, to assign civil duties as an extra charge to a medical officer in military employment or to assign military duties to a medical officer in civil employment, the concurrence of the Local Government and of the General Officer Commanding the District will be previously applied for by the Civil Administrative Medical Officer or District Principal Medical Officer, as the case may be. When a medical officer holding one of these extra charges is moved from the station on leave or otherwise, it is the duty of the Civil Administrative Medical Officer and the District Principal Medical Officer to arrange, in communication with each other, for the continued performance of the extra duties. No officer of the Indian Medical Service is at liberty to decline to undertake any duties assigned to him as an extra charge."
