To His Excellency The Right Honourable The Governor in Council, Fort St. George.

Sir,

Para. 1. The Government of Bombay having urged that greater care should be taken in this country in selecting candidates for the Civil Service of India, with reference to their constitutional robustness, my predecessor called for a report showing full particulars of the cases referred to. In reply, the Bombay Government transmitted a list of the members appointed to the Bombay Covenanted Civil Service in and since the year 1862, noting the special cases which, in their opinion, justified the conclusion that many gentlemen had been selected who were not sufficiently robust.

2. Your Excellency in Council will agree with me in thinking it highly important that I should be informed whether facts have been observed in regard to the other branches of the Covenanted Civil Service which in any way correspond to those reported to me from Bombay. I therefore forward, for your information, a copy of the Bombay report, and I request your Excellency in Council to state, for my information, whether, during the period referred to in this report, your experience of the portion of the Civil Service recruited by competition has any resemblance to the experience of the Government of Bombay.

3. It is hardly necessary for me to say that your communication with such officers as you may consult should be strictly confidential in all its stages. It will be probably necessary that you should provide these officers with a copy of the Bombay report; but if your Excellency in Council sees objection to retaining names in these copies, the persons referred to may be indicated by numbers. The remarks in the last column will however, have to be retained for the purpose of indicating the nature of the information which I wish to receive.

4. As the comparatively favourable observations of the Bombay Government on the gentlemen numbered 122, 123, 124, and 125 apply to Civilians selected and trained under the recent regulation which lowered the maximum limit of age, I should be glad to learn whether your Excellency in Council has observed any difference in physical vigour between the Civilians so selected and trained and the members of the Service who came under the older system.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient humble Servant,
(Signed) KIMBERLEY.

SIR,

With reference to your Official Memo No. 510 dated the 7th March 1883, I have the honor to forward a nominal list of the members who have joined the Madras Civil Service since the beginning of 1862.

The table of the Candidates in the open competition of 1861 does not seem to have been forwarded with the order communicating the names of officers selected for this Presidency nor does the Table for the year 1862 give the names of certain members who joined the service in 1863 and 1864.

As the ages of these officers is not known to this office, the information has not been shewn in the List.

I regret the delay which has occurred in submitting the return but much time was occupied in ascertaining the details of of the various absences of the Officers.—

I have the honor to be,
Sir,
Your most obedt. Servt.

MAY 1883, No. , PUBLIC.

CONFIDENTIAL.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

LETTER—to

THE RIGHT HONORABLE THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

MY LORD,

It is our painful duty to submit, for the consideration and orders of your Lordship in Council, the case of Mr. John Wallace, of the Madras Civil Service, who has, for the last two-and-a-half years, been holding the appointment of District and Sessions Judge of Cuddapah, and who has now misconducted himself in the manner described in the enclosed Minute recorded by the Right Honorable the Governor.

2. Until your Lordship's pleasure is known, we have directed* that Mr. Wallace be suspended from his appointment and placed on the subsistence allowance of his rank; and we have now to suggest for consideration the propriety of removing him from the service, and directing his retirement on a pension proportionate to his length of service. He arrived in the country on the 7th October 1863, and has completed an actual residence of nearly 18 years. It is understood that a similar course was followed in the case of Mr. Levien of the Bengal Civil Service.

* G.O., dated 23rd May 1883, No. 1034.

3. We believe that your Lordship will agree with us in thinking that, after what has passed, it would be impossible to allow Mr. Wallace to continue any longer in the honorable position of a Madras Civilian. We have to remind your Lordship of the correspondence (marginally indicated) which has already passed with reference to this officer. The greatest forbearance has been shown him, but he appears incapable of appreciating such treatment, and we consider that no course is now open but to remove him altogether.

Despatch to England, 8th June 1882, No. 8, (Judicial).

LETTER—to

THE RIGHT HONORABLE THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA.

MY LORD,

It is our painful duty to submit, for the consideration and orders of your Lordship in Council, the case of Mr. John Wallace, of the Madras Civil Service, who has, for the last two-and-a-half years, been holding the appointment of District and Sessions Judge of Cuddapah, and who has now misconducted himself in the manner described below.

2. On the 14th instant Mr. Wallace, who had called, with reference to a previous appointment, upon the Honorable Mr. Carmichael, Senior Civil Member of Council, for the purpose, as it appeared, of remonstrating regarding what he considered his unjustifiable retention at Cuddapah, proceeded, in the course of conversation, to attribute to Mr. Carmichael's personal hostility the refusal of Government to transfer him to another station,—hostility arising from his neglect,—so he put it,—to give handsome presents on the occasion of the marriages of Mr. Carmichael's daughters.

3. Mr. Carmichael having reported to us this unprovoked attack, Mr. Wallace was allowed an opportunity of explanation, and, in reply, endeavoured to justify his expression, alleging that he merely taxed Mr. Carmichael "with the not unnatural (nor unjustifiable) coolness which might involuntarily arise against a guest who had the bad taste to be present at a wedding without the customary gift."

4. We cannot but consider this explanation an aggravation of the gross and scandalous insult which Mr. Wallace has offered to the Honorable Mr. Carmichael, and, as Mr. Wallace appears to have no conception of the impropriety of which he has been guilty, we have felt it incumbent upon us, having regard to what has now passed in conjunction with Mr. Wallace's previous career, to suspend* him from his appointment, pending your Lordship's orders.

5. The orders of Government and the correspondence (marginally indicated) relating to this officer, already on record, taken in connexion with what has just occurred, seem to us to necessitate this course. A reference to them will, it is believed, satisfy your Lordship that, notwithstanding the forbearance shown to Mr. Wallace, he appears incapable of appreciating leniency. He arrived in India in October 1863, and has completed an actual service of nearly eighteen years. During the first fourteen years of his service, he incurred the displeasure of Government, first, as a careless student; secondly, as a careless Assistant Collector; thirdly, as a careless Assistant Magistrate; fourthly, as a Joint Magistrate, considered unworthy to hold that position and degraded to be Head Assistant; fifthly, he was warned that, if as a Head Assistant, he behaved as badly as he had done as a Sub-Collector, he would be suspended from all employment; sixthly, he was told that his conduct as Joint Magistrate had been so bad as to create grave doubts as to the propriety of entrusting him with magisterial powers for the future.

Despatch from England, 3rd August 1882, No. 11, (Judicial).

6. Notwithstanding all this, after some absence from India during which his peculiarities had been partially forgotten, Mr. Wallace was permitted to attain, by seniority, the position of District and Sessions Judge. It was while holding this position that he appealed to Lord Hartington against our proceedings rebuking him for the violent attack which he had made upon the High Court with reference to a murder case, in which they had censured his judicial conduct. The rebuke which we had administered was, in reply, considered to be a proper one.

Proceedings, 4th September 1882, No. 881, (Public).

7. While that appeal was pending, he appealed to the Viceroy, because he had not been given a co-ordinate appointment, which he fancied more than that of District and Sessions Judge of Cuddapah.

8. Though informed by the Government of India that such questions were entirely within the competence of this Government, he has taken the opportunity of his presence here, during the vacation of his Court, to again press the matter in the way already described.

9. We believe that your Lordship will agree with us in thinking that, after what has passed, it would be impossible to allow Mr. Wallace to continue any longer in the honorable position of a Madras Civilian. We have, therefore, the honor to suggest for consideration the propriety of removing him from the service and directing his retirement on such pension as to your Lordship may seem right. It is understood that a similar course was followed in the case of Mr. Levien of the Bengal Civil Service.

Sir,

The Government of Bombay having urged that greater care should be taken in this Country in selecting Candidates for the Civil Service of India, with reference to their constitutional robustness, my Predecessor called for a Report showing full particulars of the cases referred to. In reply the Bombay Government transmitted
