Sir, I have the honor to request that you will kindly allow me to resign the appointment I hold, as there affairs ~~that~~ urgently call me home.

My Father is a medical man in busy practice and I hear that he is seriously ill as this is a matter of much consideration from a military point of view apart from the gravity of its family aspect

I should be very grateful if you'd be kind enough to pass orders at an early date to the above effect.

Expressing my thanks for any inconvenience I may have occasioned

I have the honor to be ment does not expire till 14th February 1900.

The Surge General submits for order an application from Mr.
W. T. L. Roberts, one of the Temporary Pay doctors requesting to be allowed to resign his appointment on account of affairs that urgently call him home. Mr. Roberts says that his father, a medical man in busy practice, is reported to be seriously ill and that this is a matter of much consideration for him from a more than private point of view apart from the gravity of its family consequences.

aspect. The Surgeon-General reports that Mr. Roberts is now under orders to the Plague Inspection Station at Wospet. Mr. Woodward lately deceased and that it is most inconvenient to spare his services at present especially as no officer is immediately available to replace him. During the last month most of Temporary plague doctors from England have become less by three (viz. by the death of Mr. Woodward and by the resignations of Messrs. Tibbles and Anderson. From the latest fortnightly statement of plague seizures & deaths in the Madras Presidency it will be seen that there was only one unreported case of plague at Wospet during the fortnight ending 7th Oct. 1899.

Orders are requested as to whether Mr. Roberts under the present circumstances reported may be permitted to resign.

For the C.S.

It is for orders whether, in a case like this, the requirements of Plague work can be allowed to be sacrificed to personal monetary considerations of an officer who has accepted service. The remarks of the S^r show that the request of this officer to ^{reason} ~~return~~ ^{at present} can be granted only at great inconvenience to the service.

I think it will be better to allow him to go. Liberal treatment will probably stand us in good stead, if unfortunately we have to import doctors.

A number of the officers on the permanent staff will return from leave in the course of this & next month and I think Mr. Roberts will be able to get back but I am not sure.
