OFFICE NOTE.

The Superintendent, Government Press, submits that the lamp had hitherto been in use for the Superintendent and Deputy Superintendent, and coconut oil was used in them. These lamps never gave a steady light and are hurtful to the eyes. Two table lamps of Europe manufacture have recently been bought from Messrs. Baker & Co., Madras, and Kerosine oil is used in them. A trial has proved that the light, in addition to its being brighter, is very steady and that the cost of Kerosine oil consumed per hour is 2 pice against 3 pice for the coconut oil, effecting thereby a saving, exclusive of the advantage of possessing a better light. The price of the two lamps is Rs. 40. Each is therefore solicited for the ~~purchase of~~ ^{use} these two camps.
