I attach copies of my telegrams to the Viceroy asking for his consent to my absence from the Presidency, and of His Excellency's reply. I do not think these telegrams affect the decision to be come to in this matter. I propose leaving the Presidency on the 12th instant and re-entering it on the 19th instant. I went to Mysore in November and December 1897, under the conditions that attend my proposed visit to Bombay and Poona. If a notification was not thought necessary then, I should think it is not necessary now.

HONOURABLE MEMBERS AGAIN WITH REFERENCE TO HIS EXCELLENCY'S NOTE.

No notification appears to have issued in November 1897. It may perhaps be taken that no notification is necessary on the present occasion.

In accordance with precedent the consent of the Viceroy to His Excellency's tour should be communicated to the Accountant-General.

TO THE

HAND-BOOK OF PROCEDURE AND PRECEDENTS.

(Paste opposite addendum No. 9 at page 119.)

PRIVATE VISIT OF A GOVERNOR TO BOMBAY.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR'S ABSENCE FROM THE PRESIDENCY.

It is not clear from the Precedents whether any notification regarding the conduct of the affairs of Government during His Excellency the Governor's absence is necessary. When the Governor leaves the Presidency on public business such a notification is issued; but it will be seen from G.O., No. 964, Public, dated 19th December 1894, that when Lord Wenlock visited Mysore privately the Government of India stated that no such notification was required. Orders are requested whether the Government of India should be asked about the matter.

(Intld.) A.R.K. (12/11/99)
3-7-99.

But when Lord Wenlock went to Bombay (p. 119), the usual notifications were issued. His visit may however have been regarded as public.

(Intld.) G.S.

H.M. AND CIB.
For Orders.

(Intld.) G.S.
3-7-99.

It all depends apparently on the nature of the assent given by the Governor-General in Council to His Excellency's visit to Bombay. If the visit is private no notification would seem necessary. Perhaps His Excellency will let the Chief Secretary have a copy of the letter or telegram to add to the Precedents.
