Sir

As your silence on the subject of my application to try my apparatus seems to be the result of the want of excavating work in the Coom river I respectfully beg to state, that as the said apparatus, by a slight modification is equally available for the construction of such trunk roads which are made formed by throwing up Embankments I would herewith take the liberty to solicit the favor of some work of that nature nearest to Madras, which I can undertake at a reduction of 20 per cent on the ordinary rate and I doubt not at even a much greater reduction after a fair trial.

I do not presume to calculate on the success of the latter undertaking by any theoretical test - for I am not generally, nor do I understand their abstract science: the only advantage accruing to me is by the chance of my happening to devote my mind to the subject before any of our Engineers (who might have
