From the Assistant Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department (Railway Statistics), to the Joint Secretary to the Government of Madras, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, dated Simla, 20th March 1893, No. 85 R. Stat.

With reference to your letter No. 220 R., dated the 2nd February 1893, forwarding a list of the names of the proposed stations on the East Coast Railway, I am directed to communicate the approval of the Government of India to the names of the stations as shown in the accompanying list and to point out that the names of the stations Vizianagram and Naraj should be spelt Vizianagrum and Naráj as in the authorised lists of the more important places in Madras and Bengal respectively.

2. I am to observe that the names of the stations Ichápur, Tángi Road and Berhampore are somewhat similar in spelling and pronunciation to the names of certain existing stations on other railways as shown on the margin, and I am to inquire whether, in order to prevent confusion, some other names could be adopted for these three stations on the East Coast Railway.
