To

The CONSULTING ENGINEER FOR RAILWAYS, MADRAS.

Sir,

Your No. 509 of the 14th instant.
The intention to which you refer is I understand a conversation which took place during the second inspection trip of 1893. The Locomotive Superintendent's suggestion was that the General Stores buildings should be form part of the Locomotive department, that the General Stores should be removed to the present passenger station, and that the railway should be extended to Madambadi and a new passenger station erected there. This scheme would entail the expenditure of a very large sum of money, and it is in my opinion unnecessary and undesirable, and it is not my intention to propose it.

On the other hand the additional accommodation to the General Stores Office building is urgently needed, as many of the clerks have to work in the verandah.

The expenditure would not be rendered useless even if in after years any change is made.

I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most Obedient Servant,
William P. B. Smith
Agent.
