The minute regarding the supply of Badges to the Traffic Department may be passed if E.R. approves. I think it would not be advisable for E.R. to pass the minute regarding overtime to clerks of the Local motive Superintendents' office. There appears to be nothing special in this case, there is no unusual or extraordinary work thrown on the office, it is merely bringing up arrears of work which should have been done from day to day, and to grant overtime in such a case is to put a premium on allowing arrears to accumulate. It is also a general, and I think a universally recognised rule, that members of office establishments are not entitled to over-time. If granted in this case, it would hardly be refused.

referred in other and better cases, and the result would finally be that every clerk in every office who might on emergency be required to work after office hours for a short time would claim overtime. An important principle and a large extra outlay are therefore involved in the sanction to this minute. If there are savings in the lump sum provision for clerks in the Loco: Superintendent's office from which the proposed overtime can be met, they would be better utilized in employing extra temporary clerks to assist in bringing up arrears.

List C - requires E's sanction

Schedule C - The changes in the classification of goods require E's sanction.

Schedule I - The great delay in recording this item requires some explanation.
