Sir,

With reference to your letter No. 551 R., dated 13th August 1897 in which enquiry is made whether the Contracts which employes of the Madras Railway Company appointed in England are required to enter into on accepting service with the Company, are such as fall within the meaning of rule V (b) of the new rules for the grant of Exchange Compensation Allowance, I am directed to state that before considering the question the Government of India desire that the views of the Board of Directors should be placed before them.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

G. H. Adwalu

10. The Board have had under consideration the question referred to in para. 4 of No. 2333 which has been raised by the Government of Madras, whether the Agreements which employees appointed by the Board are required to enter into are such as fall within the meaning of Rule 5 (b) of the new rules for the grant of exchange compensation allowance. These agreements, as you rightly remark, are not entered into preliminary to appointment, but after the appointments have been actually made, and a clause therein provides for the continuance of service after the original term of four years has elapsed. The Board's opinion therefore is that the new rules should not be considered as applying to the Railway service, and that the agreements entered into with their officers and servants are not such as to render the grant of exchange compensation inadmissible to the holders of them under Rule 5 (b) referred to
