No. 13. Read the following Proceedings of the Board of Revenue, dated 10th November 1859, No. 4508.

Read the following letter from the Collector of Madura, dated 22d October 1859, No. 206.

(In Con. 26th October 1859, No. 5302.)

Subordinate Court of Madura, O. S. No. 23 of 1859.
Plaintiff.
Vencataraman Asary, son of Sangaralingum Asary, a farmer, residing at Pulney, Ayempully talook.
Versus.
1. A. P. Hodgson, Esq, Sub-Collector of Madura.
2. Soondarum Pillay, son of Arasappa Pillay, residing at Pulney.
3. His son Saminada Pillay.

With the foregoing letter the Collector submits the pleadings in the suit noted in the margin in which the Sub-Collector is first defendant.

2. The subject matter of the suit is a piece of nunjah land measuring goolies $1\frac{2}{16}$ valued at Rupees 23-7-0, with the trees thereon, valued at Rupees 6.

3. The plaintiff alleges that he purchased this land from its owner in 1850, for 10 Rupees, and that he has since improved half a gooli for cultivation, and converted to remaining $\frac{10}{16}$ gooli into a threshing floor. The third defendant having applied for the land, it was made over to him, notwithstanding plaintiff's claims to it, and his willingness to pay the tax payable thereon.

4. In this proposed answer the Sub-Collector points out that the land in question was waste for 20 years, that Plaintiff paid no tax for it, and that the Revenue authorities were therefore, at liberty to make it over to the party who had applied for it. He further states that if plaintiff did purchase the land, the alleged vender had no right to dispose of it, and indeed denies the sale, and that the planting of trees on waste land by no means confers any right to the land itself.

5. The Board are of opinion that the Revenue authorities acted correctly in the matter under dispute, and they consider that the proposed answer is good and sufficient; they therefore recommend that the usual authority be granted for conducting the defence of the suit in the first instance at the Government expense.

6. The Collector will be desired to obtain an extension of the time allowed for filing the answer.
