To R. Davidson Esquire

Sir, Acg. Subordinate Judge Rajahmundry

Adverting to your letter of the 22nd Instant, I have the honor to observe that it does not appear to me, that Mr Melvill in his letter to you of the 12th October last, could rightly have referred to your appointment at Ganjam, as when you were appointed to Malabar in May 1858, your connection with Ganjam, as a matter of course, altogether ceased.-

You were rightly and distinctly told in Mr Melvill's letter that unless you arrived in Madras by the 30th Dec., your appointment would be forfeited.-

Your original leave for 15 Months commenced on the 31st March 1857, it was extended to 21 months, which period expired on the 30th December 1858: You returned to Madras on the 6th January 1859, i.e. you overstayed the leave granted by 6 days, having already been absent twelve 21 Months; consequently under clause 2 Sec VI of the Absentee Rules, your office must be considered to have been vacated from the 31st December. It will therefore be necessary for you to be re-appointed with retrospective effect, from the 6th January, or that your leave on Medical Certificate be extended (if possible) to the above date. By the former arrangement you will commence to draw pay as Head Assistant to the Collector of Malabar from date of re-appointment, by the latter you will draw the same rate of pay as you did while on Medical leave, until your appointment dates from the Notice of your Acting Appointment.-

The Retrenchment therefore cannot be removed, neither can your Abstracts as Head Assistant to the Collector of Malabar be passed, until you shall have been either re appointed, or obtain an extension of Medical leave.-

I have the honor to be Sir

Sir,

I have laid before the Secretary of State for India in Council your letter requesting to be permitted to defer your departure for Madras, from the 20th of November to the 4th of December next.

In reply I am directed to state that You have permission to defer your departure as requested, but I am instructed to point out to you that your leave on Sick Certificate expires in India on the 31st of December, and that, as no extension of leave, with retention of office, can be granted except on Sick Certificate, your Appointment will, if you defer your departure until the 4th of December, be vacated.

I am Sir
Your Most obedt. Humble Servt.
