Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department, for the month of January 1860.

No. 66. Read the following Proceedings of the Board of Revenue, dated 6th January 1860, No. 63.

Read the following letter from J. W. B. DYKES, Esq., Officiating Collector of Nellúr; to J. D. SIM, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Fort Saint George, dated 15th December 1859, No. 196.

With reference to the Proceedings of the Board of Revenue, dated the 12th November last, communicating the orders of Government that a Deputy Collector in charge of the salt department should not have any other duties given to him, without the express sanction of Government, I have the honor to bring to the notice of the Board of Revenue, that hitherto the officer, who has performed the duties of the salt department, has usually had charge of the Sea Customs Department also.

2. When the charge of the salt department, was handed over to Mr. C. Náráyanaswámi Mudali, the Sea Customs were left in the charge of the Head Assistant Collector; and as their collection, &c., is entrusted to the several salt superintendents with the exception of the superintendent of Tada, these men and their establishments are thus placed under two masters, the inconvenience of which arrangement I need not dwell upon. And I, therefore, respectfully beg that the orders of Government may be obtained for reverting to the practise of the district, and placing the Sea Customs and salt departments under the same officer.

Submitted for the consideration of Government, with the Board's recommendation that the Sea Customs Department may be placed under the Deputy Collector in charge of the salt revenue.

2. The additional duty thus imposed will be light, and this arrangement will be particularly convenient as the salt superintendents, with one exception, collect the Customs dues, and will thus be under one superior in both departments.
