My dear Bonaldson,

Harrison (the Sub Treas) wrote to the Secretary to the Bank on Wednesday last desiring him to receive the Custom House Collections – no reply was received but there can be no doubt that the money may be remitted to the Bank by Cochrane – Harrison has however gone to the Bank on private business - and he said he would enquire from Hunter the cause of his not writing a reply - I will let you know the result of this enquiry in Harrison return

Yours truly
F. Cunningford

My dear Bonnichon

I am sorry I did not get your note a little earlier, as I would have arranged for the reception of the money by the Bank at the meeting from which I have just now returned - The refusal to receive the money is a mistake on the part of the Secretary as the point was discussed at a previous meeting of the Directors when it was agreed that there could be no objection whatever to money being paid in once a day by the Collector of Customs.

If you will kindly direct Cochrane to remit his Collections daily to the Treasury until further orders. I will speak to Nelson, the President, tomorrow and ask him to issue the necessary instructions to the Secretary.

Yours very truly
F. Lunnington

My dear Bowditch

Harrison has received a reply from the Bank that his instructions will be attended to. I sent Thompson note to the Collector of Sea Customs giving him detailed instructions for making his remittances daily to the Bank

Sept. 10

Yours truly
