Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department, 14th March 1862.

No. 231. Read the following Proceedings of the Board of Revenue, dated 27th February 1862, No. 1,909:—

Read Proceedings of the Madras Government, dated 1st November 1861, No. 2,057.
(In Cons. 5th November 1861, No. 7,001.)

1. In paragraph 16 of the foregoing Order, Government have directed the Board to revise the Madras Sea Customs House Establishment. Prior to the receipt of the Order, the work had been commenced by their colleague Mr. Pelly, and Mr. Collett, the Acting Collector, had submitted a scheme of the Establishment which he considered was required. This was revised and with certain alterations sent to the present Collector Mr. Shubrick for his opinion. Mr. Shubrick suggested some amendments in his report, and the Board have also personally discussed with him the several points which required consideration. They now resolve to submit to Government the correspondence which passed between Mr. Pelly and the Collector, and proceed to lay before them the scheme of which they have finally approved.

2. Before Act VI of 1814 was introduced, the cost of the Madras Sea Customs House Establishment was Rupees 2,662-6-5 per month, inclusive of a temporary Establishment of Rupees 291. After considerable correspondence between the Collector and the Board, an

The amount has since been raised to Rupees 4,591 by the employment of a Tety on 1 Rupee.

augmented scale of Establishment was submitted to Government, the cost amounting to Rupees 4,590 per month, which was sanctioned in 1816

In consequence of the passing of Act VI of 1818, equalizing the duties on Goods imported and exported on Foreign and British Bottoms, and abolishing duty on Port to Port Trade, certain reductions were made in the Establishments at the outports, but none in the Sea Customs House at Madras. The distinct Grain and Piece Goods departments formerly maintained were done away with a few years ago, and this branch was incorporated with the general Import and Export departments. These alterations should have resulted in a diminution of the Establishment at that time, but did not do so, and the amount of the Establishment sanctioned in 1816 has remained unchanged.

3. It would appear from Mr. Collett's letter, dated 29th July 1861, that the Establishment has not been employed according to the original sanction. In scarcely any department does the number of servants actually employed correspond with that sanctioned for the Department, nor does the total of the salaries of those employed coincide with the total of the salaries sanctioned, and the Establishment as at present constituted is in utter confusion. The total of the Establishment as at present employed is Rupees 4,586 per month according to Mr. Collett's Statement. The Civil Auditor's printed Establishment Budget for 1859-60 gives it as Rupees 4,621 per month.

4. Mr. Collett considered for these reasons that the Custom House required a very thorough revision and re-arrangement, and accordingly submitted a plan of an Establishment divided into more than twenty Departments, each being headed by a Manager. Mr. Pelly however re-arranged the whole Office into seven Departments, and made other changes in the proposed scheme, the details of which will be found in the Memorandum that accompanied his letter to Mr. Shubrick, dated 23rd January 1862, in which the duties to be performed by the Clerks in the several Departments are also clearly specified. In his reply, Mr. Shubrick readily concurs in the general distribution of the Establishment into seven Departments, but suggests various changes in detail; and the collective Board now proceed to pass their decision upon them.

5. The Collector first objects to Mr. Pelly's proposal to do away with the Register, which is now kept in the Office, of all goods imported and exported. The Board do not consider this Register to be of much practical value, as it is very seldom referred to, and as a record for reference in disposing of claims to drawback, is of no use after two years, beyond which period claims for drawback are not admitted. As the Collector has, however, agreed that if an extra Clerk of 25 Rupees is given him in addition to the six hands provided in Mr. Pelly's scheme for copying applications and preparing Trade returns for Calcutta and the Board, he will dispense with this copying (or rather taking extracts of applications as he explains it), and will employ the seven hands both for keeping the Registers as usual, and for preparing the Trade returns for Calcutta and the Board, the Board will not object to the retention of the Register as a book of record, and they would accordingly allow the extra Clerk applied for by Mr. Shubrick.

6. Mr. Shubrick next proposes that the pay of the Clerk, who prepares Ships' clearance papers, should be raised from 50 to 60 Rupees, and that of the Dhony Clerk from 35 to 40 Rupees; and he also applies for a separate Clerk on 50 Rupees for the work connected with drawback applications and ships' entry. In his scale Mr. Pelly provided three Clerks for granting clearance and entering Ships and Dhonies, allotting the work connected with drawback to the Accountant on 100 Rupees. The Board consider that the drawback work may fairly be attached to the Accountant, his duties in the account branch of the Custom House being extremely light, and that it is unnecessary to have a separate hand for this work. The duties of the Clearance Clerk being represented to be laborious, the Board would allow him 70 Rupees (instead of 60 Rupees recommended by the Collector), and reduce the pay of the Correspondence Clerk from 70 to 50 Rupees, the actual correspondence in a Custom House being of a very limited extent. They would also give the increase of 5 Rupees to the Clerk on 35 Rupees. Mr. Shubrick has personally assented to these arrangements.

7. The Collector considers the pay of 50 Rupees allowed for the Bonding Warehouse Clerk to be inadequate, and proposes 75 Rupees. As his duties appear to be heavy and troublesome, and will be still more so as the number of private Warehouses increase, the Board have allowed 80 Rupees pay for this office. They would also comply with the Collector's application for six hands for the duty of abstracting boat notes instead of four as proposed by Mr. Pelly.

8. In these paragraphs the Collector treats of the Appraiser's, Inspector's and Cash Departments together. He first objects to the proposed transfer of the Establishment employed in preparing Bills from the Cash Department to the Appraiser's and Inspector's Departments, where Mr. Pelly thought the duty would be performed with more expedition. Mr. Shubrick urges that these duties are foreign to these two Departments, and that in his opinion they belong to the Cash Department. The Board are however of opinion that the preparation of Bills for collecting revenue is no part of the legitimate duty of a Cashkeeper, whose proper business is to receive and disburse cash, pay bills, write his Chitta, and be responsible for the safe custody of cash and the deposits received from merchants; and if there were no such Department as the Appraiser's or Inspector's they would assign the duty to the General Department under the control of the Manager, rather than to the Cash Department.

9. But they think that instead of the calculations of the values in the applications being examined in the Appraiser's, and the bills for duty prepared in the Inspector's Department as at first proposed by Mr. Pelly, the better plan will be to allow both duties to be done at once in the Appraiser's Department. This the Board believe will be more systematic and attended with greater expedition. At present every application goes to the Collector for inserting the rate of duty, which is finally examined in the Inspector's Department. The Board consider this quite unnecessary, as it only impedes business. The rates of duty being prescribed by the Act, the Appraiser, who is a highly paid Officer directly appointed by Government, can insert them, when he examines the valuations of goods to enable the Bill calculators who will be placed under him to prepare the bills at once. The Appraiser is now provided with four Assistants to assist him in his work, and the Board have added five more; and with the assistance of these nine hands working together, the bills can be prepared with great expedition under his control. The Collector will then have a better opportunity of exercising a final check over every thing, when the papers go to him for signature in a complete shape. Under the present plan the papers go to the Collector four different times before the merchant is permitted to remove his goods causing much needless delay. If the scheme now submitted is sanctioned by Government, the Board will furnish the Collector with instructions as to the course to be followed hereafter in this matter.

10. The Collector would reduce the pay of the Inspector and his Assistant from 200 Rupees to 150, and from 50 Rupees to 35, respectively. The increased rates were provided for in Mr. Pelly's scheme on consideration of the responsible nature of the duties performed in that Department, and not with reference to the proposed transfer of the work of preparing bills to it, as erroneously supposed by the Collector. The Board are of opinion that the Heads of the Departments should be well paid with reference to their responsibility, and as the Inspector's Department is one in which all applications relating to Imports and Exports, whether paying duty, or free, are finally checked and examined, the Board consider that with reference to the pay allotted for the Heads of the several other Departments, the pay of the Inspector should not be less than 175 Rupees a month. They would not disturb the pay of 50 Rupees proposed for his Assistant, who as at present employed, gets 65 Rupees. As the Collector does not want the Gollah on 10 Rupees for the Cash Department, proposed by Mr. Pelly, the item has been struck out.

11. In the Import Department all that Mr. Shubrick suggests is that the pay of the Clerk who is to pass goods at the Import gate, and that of his Assistant, should be raised from 10 Rupees to 80, and from 25 Rupees to 40 respectively, and that of the weighing Clerk from 10 Rupees to 60. Mr. Pelly proposed to raise the pay of the Import Manager from 110 to 150 Rupees, throwing upon him the whole responsibility of supervising the yard and passing the goods; but the Collector states that the Import Manager cannot, from the nature of his duties, exercise any effective control over the passing of the goods; that his duties in connection with the supervision of the yard are sufficiently arduous; and that the increase of salaries proposed to the three Clerks is necessary, and the Board, therefore, accede to his request, as it is of much importance to secure faithful and honest service in the work of these Clerks.

12. The Collector's request for two additional Clerks in the Export Department at 15 Rupees each, appears to the Board unobjectionable.

13. The chief alterations that the Collector proposes in the Beach Department are to take Rupees 25 from the proposed increased salary of the Preventive Officer, and to add that amount to the salary of the Beach Superintendent making his salary 50 Rupees. To this the Board see no objection. He also requests that four hands may be allowed on 12 Rupees each to assist the Superintendent instead of three hands on 15 Rupees each proposed by Mr. Pelly. The Board would allow four hands applied for by the Collector on 15 Rupees each, as 12 Rupees is too low a rate of pay in Madras for persons doing the duties of a Clerk. The Beach Canacopillays are at present paid 9½ Rupees; Mr. Pelly proposed to raise their salary to 12 Rupees, but Mr. Shubrick considers 10 Rupees sufficient, and the Board have accordingly adopted that rate.

14. As regards Office servants the Collector states that they should be left as they are according to the old scale, but on personal discussion as to their distribution, he has agreed to the reduction of the number of Peons from 78 to 70 instead of 66 as proposed by Mr. Pelly, retaining the services of the Superintendent of Peons on 25 Rupees a month, which situation the Board consider quite necessary. The Board have adopted the Collector's amendment of Mr. Pelly's scale of Office servants. The additional lamp lighter on 5 Rupees, which the Collector considers unnecessary, is struck out.

15. The Establishment as at present proposed after careful consideration of all the requirements, is, the Board believe, fully sufficient. For the most part the allotment of hands has been made in accordance with the wishes of the Collector for each Department. The Manager of each Department should be held responsible for the due performance of the work in it, and he should employ the hands under him on various duties as circumstances may demand, but transfers should not be made from one Department to another without sanction, as has heretofore been done. The accompanying Statement (A) shows the Establishment as sanctioned by Government in 1843 and as at present employed; and the new Establishment as proposed by Messrs. Collett, Pelly, and Shubrick, and as now finally settled by the collective Board. The results of the various proposals are shown below:—

	Per month.	Per annum.	Annual saving.
Present Establishment.....	4,591	55,092
As proposed by Mr. Collett.....	4,297½	51,570	3,522
Do. by Mr. Pelly.....	4,019	48,228	6,864
Do. by Mr. Shubrick.....	4,274	51,288	3,804
As finally recommended by the Board..	4,187	50,244	4,848

16. Statement B shows the Establishment as finally recommended by the Board, classified according to rates under the several Departments. It will be seen that the annual saving effected on the present Establishment is Rupees 4,848. In consequence of the present revision a number of hands will have to be dispersed with in the Sea Custom House at Madras, but in the new scale of Establishment submitted by Mr. Pelly for Sea Custom Ports in the Maritime Districts more men than at present employed at the outports will be required, and several of the Madras Custom House servants may be taken on employment then, as they will be found useful from the experience they may have had of the business in the Sea Custom House Madras.

17. There is a separate distinct Department in the Custom House styled the Department of External Commerce which is employed in compiling the annual trade returns for the whole Presidency. Mr. Pelly, when revising his scheme for the Sea Custom Establishment, expressed his opinion that this Establishment would more properly be attached to the Board's Account Department, in which all general returns relating to other sources of revenue are compiled. Mr. Shubrick observed (paragraph 23) that the Sea Custom House is the proper place for the Office, but he states no reasons for this opinion, and in the personal conference with him he assented to the proposed change, and admitted that the proper work of his office would not be affected by the transfer. The Board are of opinion that such general returns for the whole Presidency as those in question should be prepared in their Office. The Statements of the daily trade of the Madras port were formerly abstracted in the Sea Custom Office itself, and a monthly abstract furnished to the Department of External Commerce for the compilation of the annual returns, but the preparation of these abstracts appears to have been recently transferred to the External Commerce Department, thereby creating a new necessity in the Custom House for making extracts from the applications of goods, and forwarding them daily to the other Department, to enable the latter to abstract the local trade return. There is no reason for this change. The Board have made the necessary provision in the Sea Custom Establishment for the preparation of this abstract, which should in future be sent to the Board, and also for the transmission of the Trade returns to Calcutta, which Order dated 15th May 1861, No. 1,084, was recently ordered by that Government; there is therefore no necessity for giving any part of the Establishment appertaining to the External Commerce Department for that purpose.

18. The Board consider the transfer of this External Commerce Department to their Office desirable on other grounds also. The returns from the several Collectors of Maritime Districts being received by them will render every information respecting the Sea Custom trade available in the Board's Office. The Account Department of the Board will also be strengthened by this addition, without additional expense to the State, which would otherwise probably be necessary. The business of the Account Department has of late considerably increased. The audit of the numerous Contingent bills, the preparation of Income tax Statements, the compilation of Budget Estimates and sundry other work require at intervals the services of a large number of hands at once. The proposed addition of seven or eight hands will render their Account Department strong and efficient, and other Establishments being amalgamated together, they can be usefully employed on various work as circumstances may demand the trade returns for transmission to England being also prepared as heretofore. The transfer now contemplated will also be attended with a larger saving to Government than that proposed by Mr. Collett in this Department. The cost of the present Departmental Establishment is Rupees 519 per month, or Rupees 6,228 per annum. Mr. Collett proposed an establishment at a cost of Rupees 416-8-0 per month, with an extra Establishment of 300 Rupees per year, the total annual cost being Rupees 5,638, thus effecting a yearly saving of Rupees 70. The Board have now revised the Establishment, reducing the cost to Rupees 412 per month, or Rupees 5,304 per annum, and according to this scheme there will be a saving of Rupees 924 per annum, instead of only Rupees 570 as proposed by Mr. Collett. Mr. Collett indeed contemplated that both the monthly abstract trade returns of External Commerce or the compilation of the annual Statements sent to England, and also the monthly returns sent to Calcutta should be prepared by the Establishment proposed by him for the External Commerce Office, but the practicability of this plan has not been proved, and as the required provision for the performance of the latter work has been made in the Sea Custom Establishment a further discussion is unnecessary. The enclosed Statement (C) shows the present departmental Establishment, the Establishment proposed by Mr. Collett, and that finally settled by the Board; and under the circumstances stated, the Board request that Government will sanction the Establishment now proposed at Rupees 412 per month, and permit its transfer and amalgamation with the Account Department of the Board. The whole saving effected by the present revision in the Sea Custom House and External Commerce Establishments will be Rupees 481 per month, or Rupees 5,772 per annum. This may be taken as a set off for the large increase proposed by Mr. Pelly to put the Sea Custom Establishments at the outports on a proper footing.

The following abstract shows the per centage of the proposed cost of the Establishment for the Madras Sea Custom House and for the outports with reference to the Revenue of Fasli 1270:—
