No. 222.

ORDER THEREON, 13th July 1865, No. 1,611.

Miscellaneous.

1. The continuance of this Yeomiah is sanctioned, it being one of those religious service endowments which in paragraph 6 of the Secretary of State's despatch, dated 9th December 1863, (G. O. 21st January 1864, No. 124, Revenue Department,) are declared to be of a permanent character.

2. The Government do not see that their confirmation in each case of succession on a death vacancy to such service allowances is at all necessary. It will be quite sufficient if, once for all, the Government sanction a classification of all the existing religious or charitable service endowments, which are considered now, or shewn by past practice to have been hitherto considered as of a permanent character so long as the service continues to be performed.

3. The Board will furnish Collectors with a tabular form of such a permanent Register, to shew the District, village, origin, nature of service, amount, and present incumbent's name in each such service endowment, and will submit the return from each District in duplicate for the sanction of Government. When passed as approved, one copy will be furnished to the Accountant General, countersigned by the Secretary to Government, as a standing authority for the payment, and thenceforward the Board will, on the Collector's report, confirm the succession on lapses without reference to Government, merely satisfying themselves that the condition of service is duly maintained and fulfilled.

4. The Board will, however, specially report to Government any case in which it may appear that the delay in disposing of the matter in the District has exceeded three months from date of lapse.

5. The Government have lately had occasion to remark with serious disapprobation the inexcusable delay that is allowed to occur in this matter, extending in some cases to several years.

This order will materially diminish work, but - it may be necessary shortly, to say something about the delays in disposing of succession cases. The Board must see that no case is left pending, or unchecked.

I would request the Board in disposing of these proceedings to adhere as nearly as may be to the manner now directed, to make a separate report to the Govt. when such case is finally disposed of in the office of the Collector. The period of delay between the death of the last holder and the Collector's report to the Board should not exceed 3 months
