Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department, 7th March 1866.

No. 99. Read the following Proceedings of the Madras Government in the Public Department, dated 28th February 1866, No. 213.

Read the following Extract from the Proceedings of the Right Honorable the Governor General of India in Council, in the Home Department, (Electric Telegraph), under date the 8th February 1866, No. 1,283.

Read the following Extracts from a letter No. 2,148, dated the 21st December 1865, from the Director General of Telegraphs in India:—

Para. 4.—Clearing the line is a very injurious practice, obstructing as it does all traffic instantaneously, leading to confusion of work, and mutilation and loss of messages from half being sent at one time, and the rest when the line is available again.

Para. 5.—“Precedence,” which gives priority to messages, but allows partially transmitted messages to be completed before the precedence messages are brought on, is almost as rapid, and so much less detrimental to the interests of the public, that I am sure that if those officials who think it necessary to send every political message “confidential and clear line,” only gave the subject a moment’s thought, they would rarely call for one or the other. “Clear line,” as I observed before, clears the line used; but “Confidential” clears the Offices also, and thus stops not only the traffic on the line used, but also the traffic on all the other lines whose wires pass through any of the Offices in that line.

*Para. 6.—*I have seen a good many confidential messages of late, the contents of many of which were really not of sufficient importance to warrant such grievous obstruction.

*Para. 7.—*Should the Government agree with me, that this practice is to be strongly deprecated, a Circular to this effect might be transmitted to those officials who are interested, stating briefly the practical injury done, and also calling to their remembrance that Signallers are bound by heavy penalties to keep all messages secret.

RESOLUTION.

1. The Governor General in Council desires that the attention of Government Officers be directed to the above remarks respecting the inconvenience caused by claiming unnecessarily for Telegraph messages the privileges of “clear the line,” “confidential,” and “precedence.”

2. Officers who have the right to claim the above-mentioned privileges, should be very careful to claim them only where it is really necessary to do so.

3. The distinction between the privileges of “clear the line” and “precedence,” and the less amount of inconvenience caused by the use of the latter, as pointed out by the Director General, should be borne in mind.

ORDERED, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the several Departments of the Government of India, and to all Local Governments and Administrations in view to the necessary steps being taken for impressing upon the Officers subordinate to them the importance of avoiding the unnecessary use of the privileges referred to.
