---

1. The pamphlet received is returned as ordered.
2. The following appear to be the most important subjects briefly treated of:—

   Under what circumstances American Cotton can be grown; effects of water supply; imperfect drainage; sudden checks to root action.

   Degeneration of New Orleans from prolonged culture within limited area.

   New Orleans altered by long cultivation in temperate climes, e. g., Italy and Sicily.

   Experience in Brazil as to cultivation of New Orleans on worn-out Sugar and Cotton soil.

   Necessity for rigid isolation of sorts; purity of seed; and the special measures necessary for insuring it. Advantages as leading to correct nomenclature.

   Advisability of re-introducing Indian species into India from temperate climates; Greece, Turkey, etc.

   Advisability of trial in India of new sorts from Bourbon.

3. The Board regret that they have not been furnished with a number of copies of this useful and suggestive work for distribution.
