One daughter, age 3 years.5 | The deceased Jupalli Chenna Row is reported to have died on the 31st July 1870, having left behind him a son, Laxma Rao, three daughters, and the third wife.From the correspondence noted in the margin, it appears that Jupalli Lutchma Row was the ancient Zemindar of Udayagiri, but when he was dispossessed by the Mahomedan Jaghiredar, a pension of 100 Madras Pagodas per month was originally granted by the Mahomedan Government. On the cession of the Carnatic, the pension was continued by the Collector to his son, Appa Row, until his death in 1812, when the pension was reduced by Government to Rs. 192 per mensem, and continued to his adopted son, Lakshmana Row. This individual died in 1818, when the pension was continued to Appa Row's widow, Venkamma, and subsequently raised to the full amount of Rs 385 on the 17th July 1821. On her death, two-thirds of her monthly pension or Rs. 256-10-8 was continued by Government to her adopted son, Jupalli Chenna Row, the deceased, in Government Order, 14th December 1824. The Government, while sanctioning the allowance at two-thirds to the deceased, explicitly laid down that similar reductions on each succeeding lapse should take effect.From Collector to Board, 2nd November 1821.From Board to Government, No. 564, dated 2nd December 1824.From Government to Board, No 798, dated 14th December 1824. | | | three wives, of whom the third wife, Seetamma, is surviving. Among the children, only No. 2 is married. Nos. 1, 3, and 5 are not married. The family possesses the village of Rompidola, in the Pamur estate of the Kalastri Zemindari, the yield of which is stated to be 700 Rupees, subject to a Jodi of Rs. 500 to the Zemindar.

A balance of 200 Rupees is stated to be their income from that village. No other means of livelihood than the above village and the pension.

This order is susceptible of two interpretations as to the mode of calculating the pension to be continued. It may have been intended that the reduction should be (1) at one-third of the original pension or (2) at one-third of the reduced amount granted on each lapse. If the former, one-third of Venkamma's pension, viz., Rs. 128-5-4, will have to be continued to the deceased's son for life, but if the latter be the meaning of Government, the pension would continue ad infinitum, diminishing by one-third, and eventually become a mere nominal pension. In the light of the orders * issued in the case of the Udayagiri family (Mahomedan), it would appear that the Government could hardly have meant to make the pension a never-ending one. I therefore recommend that one-half of the pension enjoyed by the late incumbent, or one-third of the original pension of Rs. 385, viz., Rs. 128-5-4, be granted to Laxma Rao for life for the support of the family.

* Orders of Government, 13th September 1861, No. 1824, and 30th June 1870, No. 1006.

SUBMITTED for the orders of Government, with reference to Government Order, dated 14th December 1824, No. 798.

2. A subsistence allowance of Rs. 385 per mensem was originally granted to Jupalli Lutchma Row, ancient Zemindar of Udayagiri.

3. In the order above quoted, Government were pleased to sanction the continuance of two-thirds of the allowance (Rs. 256-10-8) to the late incumbent, "subject to a similar reduction on each succeeding lapse."

4. The family left by the deceased consists of one son, three daughters, and a widow. They possess a village yielding a net income of Rs. 200 per annum.

5. The name of the original grantee, and the date of the original grant, should have been entered in column 3 of the Statement.

No. 61. ORDER THEREON, 3rd December 1870, No. 1919.

Miscellaneous.

The Order of Government, dated 14th December 1824, No. 798, evidently contemplated the reduction of the original pension (Rs. 385) by one-third on each succeeding lapse. The proposal of the Collector that a monthly allowance of Rs. 128-5-4 may be granted to Laxma Rao is therefore sanctioned. He should be informed that on his death the pension will lapse altogether.
