

No. 162. Read the following Circular from the Government of India, Financial Department, dated Simla, 6th November 1871, No. 4,947:—

THE Governor-General in Council requests that the Local Governments will be good enough to furnish to the Financial Department, not later than January next, a return, in the annexed form, showing for each district the amount of the existing annual demand of land-revenue, the estimated amount to which it will be probably raised on the next revision of assessment, in all cases in which the term of the existing assessments or settlements will expire within the next six years, and the increment of demand which may be expected to accrue in each of the years from 1872-73 to 1877-78 from revised settlements which are now in progress, or which are likely to be introduced within that period.

It will be convenient if the districts be arranged in three divisions, with a separate total for each division, viz:—

1st.—Districts in which existing assessments will continue in force throughout the six years.

2nd.—Districts in which a revision of assessment is in progress, or is likely to be introduced during the six years.

3rd.—Other districts in which existing settlements will expire within the six years.
