1	Huzur Treasury, Rs. 20 per mensem.	Granted by the Honourable Company, but the exact date of the grant is not known. Family of the deceased Zemindar of Negalapuram. Extracts from Minutes of Consultation, dated 31st August 1836, 13th February and 2nd April 1846, and Board's Proceedings, dated 16th September 1847.	Compensation in lieu of resumed lands and privileges.	Bangarasundra Naik, who was the grandson of the deceased Zemindar, died on the 18th September 1871.	The entire amount was drawn from the Treasury by the deceased. The amount distributed by him to each member cannot be ascertained.	1. Bangarammal, 1st wife of the deceased, aged 10 years. 2. Sundarammal, 2nd wife of the deceased, aged 5 years. 3. Sutturammal, 1st daughter of the deceased by her 1st wife, aged 25 years. 4. Eppabammal, 2nd daughter of the deceased by her 1st wife, aged 20 years. 5. Mutturangammal, 3rd daughter of the deceased by her 1st wife, aged 12 years. 6. Mutturangammal, daughter of the deceased by her 2nd wife, aged 22 years, and 11 other distant relatives. 7. Bangaru Sundrapandia Naik, son of the deceased's father by his 2nd wife, aged 25 years.	This pension is subject to a reduction on lapse under the Board's Standing Order, No. 180, Dallyell's Code. Bangaru Sundrapandia Naik, (No. 7 in column 7) has deposited that 6 Rupees were paid to him monthly by the deceased out of his pension and 6 Rupees to Subbiyasami Naik (No. 11 in column 7) and his brothers, sons of the younger brother of the deceased, and promises, if the entire pension is continued to him, that he will give 8 Rupees to the two wives (Nos. 1 and 2 in column 7) of the deceased, retaining the remainder, or Rupees 12, for the maintenance of himself, Subbiyasami Naik, and his dependants. Subbiyasami Naik has no objection to this arrangement. The two wives, however, of the deceased solicit the transfer of the pension to them exclusively, as the family property was divided long ago between their husband and his co-heirs Bangaru Sundrapandia Naik and Subbiyasami Naik, and no part of the pension has ever been given by the deceased to his co-heirs, the said Bangaru Sundrapandia Naik and Subbiyasami Naik; they have therefore no guarantee that Bangaru Sundrapandia Naik is likely to support them if the money is entrusted to him.

						8. Bonmammai, mother of Bungaru Sundrapandia Naik, aged 50 years. 9. Perammal, wife of Bungaru Sundrapandia Naik, aged 20 years. 10. Sinna Bonmammai, widow of the deceased's younger brother, aged 30 years. 11. Subiyasami Naik, 1st son of Sinna Bonmammai, aged 14 years. 12. Shungavela Naik, 2nd son of Sinna Bonmammai, aged 10 years. 13. Sagaravelu Naik, 3rd son of Sinna Bonmammai, aged 7 years, and 14 other distant relatives.	The Tahsildar reports that Bungaru Sundrapandia Naik is a man of straw and therefore not a fit person to support the widows, and recommends the continuance of the pension in the name of the widows as requested by the deceased in his petition to the Collector, dated 18th September 1871. The pension is hereditary, and the deceased has left behind him a large family without proper means of support. The Collector therefore recommends that the pension be reduced from 20 to 15 Rupees and be granted to the elder widow, Vangarammal, from the date of the death of her husband with payment of arrears from June to 17th September 1871 amounting to Rupees 71-5-4. The Tahsildar's report in this case, received on the 27th November 1871, was found to be defective in several points. The further information required was received on the 16th May last, hence the delay in the disposal of the case.

Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department,
17th August 1872.

SUBMITTED for the orders of Government.

2. In 1799, on account of rebellious proceedings on the part of the Zemindar of Nagalapuram, he himself was transported to Bencoolen, and his estate sequestrated and eventually brought to public sale. A pension of Rupees 100-3-8 per mensem was assigned to the family, and in pursuance of an arrangement made in 1818, and formally sanctioned in 1836, this pension was divided between the Zemindar's sons by his first and second wives, Rupees 23-5-4 being assigned to the son of the latter. On the death of this individual in November 1846, the pension was reduced to Rupees 20, and granted to Bungaru Sundrapandia Naik, whose death is now reported.

3. He has left two widows and four daughters, three brother's sons (minors), a half-brother, and some female connections by marriage. The half-brother asserts that he and the elder nephew participated in the deceased's pension, and offers to assign Rupees 8 per mensem to the widows if the whole pension is granted to him. The widows deny these assertions, allege that the family property had been divided between her husband and his co-heirs, and pray that the pension may be continued to them.

4. The Collector reports that the half-brother is a man of straw and not a fit person to support the widows, and recommends that the pension be reduced to Rupees 15 and registered in the names of the widows jointly.

5. The history of both branches of the original stipend show ~~that the pension was reduced on lapse, and the Board support the Collector's recommendation, but considering the small amount of the pension, trust that it may not be thought too much to continue the full amount, Rupees 20, to the widows.~~

ORDER THEREON, 17th August 1872, No. 1,210.

Miscellaneous.

THE continuance of the pension at Rs. 20 monthly, with arrears, to the widows of the deceased is sanctioned.
