Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department, 6th August 1874.

No. 49. Read the following Proceedings of the Board of Revenue, dated 1st July 1874, No. 1,642 :—

Read the following letter from H. S. THOMAS, Esq., Collector of South Canara, to J. GROSE, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Kudremukh, 21st May 1874, No. 957.

Sir, by the Gazette Mr. G. Stokes acts as Head Assistant during Mr. E. Gibson's leave. I am left without an Assistant. As Mr. Gibson's absence is for the monsoon only, this difficulty could be tide over were it not that the Deputy-Collector Mr. J. Ball will be absent at the same time, for, though Sub Deputy-Collector, he has necessarily no salt work in the monsoon, and being a full-power Magistrate is then available for magisterial work and rent recovery cases, the general work of the extra being done by myself.

2. No doubt it is highly important that Mr. Ball should, as proposed by the Board, obtain full power Proceedings, dated 27th February 1874, No. 419, paragraph 4. during the monsoon a thorough practical knowledge of improved salt manufacture under Mr. Ballon, so that, now that the manufacturers' price has been raised, there may remain no reason why Canara should not become self-supplying in the matter of salt. No doubt, also, it is highly desirable that Mr. Ball should be absent for this purpose during the monsoon, so as to apply himself to salt manufacture as soon as the dry weather sets in. Without for a moment depreciating Mr. Ball's absence, therefore, I have the honour to ask a full-power Deputy Magistrate in his place.

3. The last time I had to seek similar aid, the Government was pleased to send me a perfectly qualified Deputy-Collector and Magistrate from the High Court Translator's Office, with only third-class powers, and no consequent was that he was no manner of assistance to me, but rather the reverse. He could only do the same magisterial work as a Collector and Sub-Magistrate, and that not so well, so that my appeal and revision work was increased, and no relief at all afforded in full-power magisterial cases.

4. If no full-power Deputy-Collector is given, it comes to this that Mr. G. Stokes will be my only coadjutor, and with the comparatively little aid that I can give him, he will practically have to do all the full-power magisterial cases and rent recovery cases of the district in addition to his division the Head Assistant's; in short, he will be required to do alone the work which has hitherto occupied both him and Mr. Gibson, which is simply impossible.

5. In case the Board should think that I should aid him, I would add that the magisterial returns of the Presidency will show that the share of magisterial work which I have hitherto compared well with that done by other District Magistrates, and that I cannot consequently be expected to take a larger share than I have hitherto done. Leading cases, such as a District Magistrate generally selects, are usually heavier than ordinary cases. One on which I have lately been engaged has thrown all administrative work into arrears for a fortnight, though I have not dawdled over it, but been at work as early as 6 A.M. and as late as 9-15 P.M. It was a case which I could not well avoid, though I foresaw its weight, on account of its complexity. The case itself was one with three phases, and it took long time to my two assistants, the third was my duty. The consequence is that, though I had brought all my work carefully up to date, it has all fallen back again by a clear half month's work, and besides the Sisyphean labour, I must expect again the while distasteful round reminders of delayed reports.

6. I do not write the above by way of complaint of my own or my Assistant's present work, but only to show that, though we are ready to do and are doing our utmost, and much more than any public servant does in England, we cannot possibly keep the increased work under, unless there be given to the district a full-power Deputy Magistrate in lieu of the Sub Deputy-Collector Mr. Ball.

7. In the event of such a Deputy-Collector being given, the division of work, which I propose to make and for which I seek the Board's sanction, is the following.

Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department, 6th August 1874.

Mr. Olsson has the Velup and Candam Taluqs, which form the Head Assistant's division, and the Mangalore Taluq. Instead of giving Mr. Stokes the same, I propose to allow him to keep on his own taluq of Cassengode, which he knows and is interested in, in lieu of Mangalore and thus leave the Mangalore Taluq and town to the new Deputy-Collector, my own work remaining the same as reported in my letter recorded in Board's Proceedings, dated 2nd May 1874, No. 2,001.

8. Then comes the question, whether for Salt duty period I am to break up the Assistant Collector's office establishment and disorganize arrangements. If rules are imperative, it can be done, but it would be much more satisfactory if the Assistant's office could be retained. Mr. Stokes would then have his own taluqs for his own interest of Cassengode, and the Head Assistant's works for the Head Assistant's division, and the Salt Deputy-Collector's establishment would be available for the new temporary Deputy-Collector.

9. In conclusion, I have the honour to request that, in the event of the Government ordering the Salt Deputy-Collector to the East Coast, I may be allowed to detain him till the arrival of his substitute.

Consent of the Government with reference to the Board's recommendation of paragraph 1 of Salt Proceedings, dated 27th February 1874, No. 450, in the effect that Mr. Hall should visit the East Coast salt factories after the close of the season on the West Coast.

With reference to paragraph 2, the Board are of opinion that the Assistant Collector's office establishment should be retained.

No. 50. Government, 6th August 1874, No. 138.

Revenue Revenue No. 2.
1874

The Governor in Council observe that the Salt Deputy-Collector will not visit the East Coast this season (G. O., 21st July 1874, No. 309.)

2. The Assistant Collector's establishment may be retained as proposed.
3. The Collector will report whether Mr. Hall is permitted to visit salt mines.

No. 1,042.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE, dated 1st July 1874.

Read the following letter from H. S. THOMAS, Esq., Collector of South Canara, to J. GROSE, Esq., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, dated Kudremuk, 21st May 1874, No. 967:—

Since by the Gazette Mr. G. Stokes acts as Head Assistant during Mr. E. Gibson's leave, I am left without an Assistant. As Mr. Gibson's absence is for the monsoon only, this difficulty could be tide over were it not that the Deputy Collector Mr. J. Ball will be absent at the same time, for, though Salt Deputy-Collector, he has necessarily no salt-work in the monsoon, and being a full-power Magistrate is then available for magisterial work and rent-recovery cases, the general work of the extra being done by myself.

2. No doubt it is highly important that Mr. Ball should, as proposed by the Board, obtain File Board's Proceedings, dated 27th February 1874, during the monsoon a thorough practical knowledge of improved salt manufacture under Dr. Ketton, so that, now that the manufacturers' price has been raised, there may remain no reason why Canara should not become self-supplying in the matter of salt. No doubt, also, it is highly desirable that Mr. Ball should be absent for this purpose during the monsoon, so as to apply himself to salt manufacture as soon as the dry weather sets in. Without for a moment depreciating Mr. Ball's absence, therefore, I have the honour to seek a full-power Deputy-Magistrate in his place.

3. The last time I had to seek similar aid, the Government was pleased to send me a perfectly untried Deputy-Collector and Magistrate from the High Court Translator's Office, with only 2nd-class powers, and the consequence was that he was no manner of assistance to me, but rather the reverse. He could only do the same magisterial work as a Tahsildar and Sub-Magistrate, and that not so well, so that my appeal and revision work was increased, and no relief at all afforded in full-power magisterial cases.

4. If no full-power Deputy-Collector is given, it comes to this that Mr. G. Stokes will be my only assistant, and with the comparatively little aid that I can give him, he will practically have to do all the full-power magisterial cases and rent-recovery cases of the district in addition to his duties as Head Assistant; in short, he will be required to do alone the work which has hitherto occupied both him and Mr. Gibson, which is simply impossible.

5. In case the Board should think that I should aid him, I would add that the magisterial returns of the Presidency will show that the share of magisterial work which I have taken compares well with that done by other District Magistrates, and that I cannot consequently be expected to take a larger share thereof myself than I have hitherto done. Lending cases, also, such as a District Magistrate generally selects, are usually heavier than ordinary cases. One on which I have lately been engaged has thrown all administrative work into arrears for a clear fortnight, though I have not dived over it, but been at work as early as 6 A.M. and as late as 9.15 P.M. It was a case which I could not well avoid, though I foresaw its weight; an important case concerning a District Munsif, a case with three phases, two of which being given to my two Assistants, the third was my duty. The consequence is that, though I had brought all my work carefully up to date, it has all fallen back again by a clear half month's work, and besides the Sisyphean labour, I must expect again the while distasteful Board reminders of delayed reports.

6. I do not write the above by way of complaint of my own or my Assistants' present work, but only to show that, though we are ready to do and are doing our utmost, and much more than any public servant does in England, we cannot possibly keep the increased work under, unless there be given to the district a full-power Deputy-Magistrate in lieu of the Salt Deputy-Collector Mr. Ball.

7. In the event of such a Deputy-Collector being given, the division of work, which I propose to make and for which I seek the Board's sanction, is the following.

Mr. Gibson has the Udipi and Cundapur Taluqs, which form the Head Assistant's division, and the Mangalore Taluq. Instead of giving Mr. Stokes the same, I propose to allow him to keep on his own taluq of Cassergode, which he knows and is interested in, in lieu of Mangalore and thus leave the Mangalore Taluq and town to the new Deputy-Collector, my own work remaining the same as reported in my letter recorded in Board's Proceedings, dated 2nd May 1873, No. 2,661.

8. Then comes the question whether for this short period I am to break up the Assistant Collector's office establishment and disorganize arrangements. If rules are inexorable, it can be done, but it would be much more satisfactory if the Assistant's office could be retained. Mr. Stokes would then have his own two clerks for his own taluq of Cassargode, and the Head Assistant's clerks for the Head Assistant's division, and the Salt Deputy-Collector's establishment would be available for the new temporary Deputy-Collector.

9. In conclusion, I have the honour to request that, in the event of the Government ordering the Salt Deputy-Collector to the East Coast, I may be allowed to detain him till the arrival of his substitute.

Submitted for the orders of Government with reference to the Board's recommendation at paragraph 4 of their Proceedings, dated 27th February 1874, No. 439, to the effect that Mr. Ball should visit some of the East Coast salt factories after the close of the season on the West Coast.

2. With reference to paragraph 8, the Board are of opinion that the Assistant Collector's office establishment should be retained.
