IRRIGATION, No. 52.

COMMUNICATED to the Superintending Engineer, Godavery, who will show on a map the approximate boundaries of the Government lands and several estates included within the area to be protected by the Polaveram island embankments, and will report in what way the work can be modified so as to protect principally Government lands and the Kesavakurru estate, leaving other estates to make such arrangements for their own security as they may deem proper.
