Madras.

Sir,

The village of Dumagudem in the Bhadra-chellam Taluq was built on a piece of low land belonging to the Department Public Works. It consists of several poor buildings not worth the name of houses. The Executive Engineer, Vanstavern, at Dumagudem urged in 1873 the necessity of removing the village, because he considered that it was a place which even in the present state of the embankment is liable to inundation and in the event of any of the protective works being destroyed by extraordinary high floods, the inhabitants inhabitants would be in great danger. The Chief Commissioner at Nagpore decided that the village should be removed to some other place near Gangole not far from Dimagudem which was selected by a Committee and approved of by the Chief Commissioner.

2. Major Beatty also considers the site of the present village insecure and he asked Mr Forbes for the 32 acres of Government waste colored yellow in the enclosed Map. Mr Forbes issued orders to the Shanabullum Sahaibdar to reserve this for village site and I have now the honor to ask the sanction of the Board for the same. Mr Sanctuaries the Executive Engineer will lay out the proposed town, and it is hoped that the superiority of the site will soon attract those who now inhabit the low and unhealthy unhealthy site at Dimagudem.
