11 here and there throughout the whole District but not enough to do any good.

Night showers of rain have fallen here and there throughout the whole District but not enough to do any good. The weather is cloudy with a strong westerly wind, some hopes of rain, but the high western winds, which are increasing daily, disperse them immediately, so that no rain at once. Ploughing is not begun still, and even the dry crops, such as Cholam and Kharra, are suffering from want of water. Some wells and channels are in some degree reported to be
