CIRCULAR ORDER, No. XV. of 1876.

STANDING ORDER 31.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE, dated 9th October 1876, No. 2,535.

FROM reports which have lately reached them the Board learn with regret that in many instances when disease breaks out amongst cattle no remedies whatever are employed. Pending the arrival of a Veterinary Surgeon from England, it is essential, in order to prevent as far as possible unnecessary mortality amongst their farm stock, that the ryots should be induced by all legitimate means to follow the directions for the treatment of disease contained in the Manual drawn up by Mr. Thacker. This publication has now been distributed in the several Vernacular languages throughout the rural parts of the Presidency, and the medicines prescribed can be easily compounded with ingredients procurable in the bazaar of every large village. Nevertheless the reports referred to show that, owing apparently to ignorance or want of faith in them, the remedies which Mr. Thacker found so efficacious are often not applied, even the simple expedient of segregating the healthy cattle from the diseased being not unfrequently neglected. Collectors should, therefore, endeavour to remove the prejudice and ignorance on this subject by impressing upon the ryots and upon the Zemindars of their districts the importance and efficacy of Mr. Thacker's method of treatment, and the desirability of resorting to it on all occasions. By this means the masses may be instructed gradually to adopt the most necessary sanitary measures to prevent the spread of cattle diseases and to help themselves in saving their cattle.
