No. 28.

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,
31st October 1876.

MR LORD DUKE, — Considerable injury has frequently been done to the books &c., sent from India to this office, owing to the careless use of very long nails to secure the iron straps of the cases. The points of these nails have been found penetrating an inch and a half beyond the wood and the tin lining, going right through valuable works and completely destroying them. I beg, therefore, that your Excellency will cause such instructions to be at once issued as shall prevent the recurrence of such negligence in future.

I have, &c.,
SALISBURY.
