No. 392. Proceedings of the Court of Wards, dated 7th May 1877.

Read the following letter from W. McQUHAE, Esq., Collector of Madura, to H. E. STOKES, Esq., Secretary to the Court of Wards, dated Dindigul, 16th April 1877, No. 56.

With reference to the Court's Proceedings, dated 27th March 1877, I have the honor to submit, herewith, a revised Budget statement, in which an additional column has been opened showing the estimate for six months, from July to December 1877. The present estimated receipts as compared with those entered in the statement submitted with my letter, No. 41, dated 14th March 1877, show a decrease of Rs. 32,289, due chiefly to the probable remission of the current year's rents having been taken into account, but the amount of expenditure is the same as before after deducting Rs. 1,00,000 provided on account of the instalment in part repayment of the principal of the mortgage debts. There will thus be a sum of Rs. 1,36,169 (plus Rs. 56,000 expected to be realized from July to December 1877) available for expenditure on irrigation works and to meet the charges accruing during the early part of next fasli.

The revised estimate furnished by the Collector shows that, allowing for the probable remissions of the current year's rents, the closing balance of the fasli, in consequence of the postponement of the payment of the peishcush and of the sum of one lakh of rupees provided in the original Budget as an instalment in repayment of the principal of the mortgage debt, is likely to be Rs. 1,36,196. The estimated receipts of the first six months of the ensuing fasli fall short of the estimated expenditure by Rs. 34,016, and this being deducted from the closing balance above mentioned, there is left a sum of Rs. 1,02,180 for expenditure on irrigation works over and above the Budget allotment. Of this latter amount Rs. 65,759 have already been appropriated to works sanctioned in the Court's Proceedings, dated 15th February 1877, No. 644, so that the amount available for the works connected with the Raghunatha Cauvery Project is only Rs. 36,421.

From W. H. E. Dubae Esquire Collector of Madras
To Mr. E. Stokes Esquire Secretary to the Court of Wards
Madras

With reference to the Court's Proceedings dated 27th March 1877, I have the honor to submit herewith a revised Budget statement in which an additional column has been opened showing the estimate for 6 months, from July to December 1877. The present estimated receipts as compared with with those entered in the statement submitted with my letter N^o 41, dated 14th March 1877 show a decrease of Rs 32,289 due chiefly to the probable remission of the current year's rents having been taken into account, but the amount of expenditure is the same as before after deducting Rs 10,000 provided on account of the instalment in part repayment of the principal of the mortgage debt.

There will thus be a sum of Rs 136,169 (plus Rs 5000 expected to be realized from July to December 1877) available for expenditure on irrigation works and

and to meet the charges accruing during the early part of next fush-

(C) Mr. Mr. Lohar
Collector

The revised estimate furnished by the Collector shows that, allowing for the probable remissions of the current year's rents, the closing balance of the Fush, in consequence of the postponement of the payment of the Peshkash and of the sum of one lakh of Rupees provided in the original Budget as an instalment in repayment of the principal

principal of the mortgage debt is likely to be Rs 136,196. The estimated receipts of the first six months of the ensuing fiscal fall short of the estimated expenditure by Rs 34,016, and this being deducted from the closing balance above mentioned, there is left a sum of Rs 102,180 for expenditure on irrigation works over and above the Budget allotment.
Of this latter amount, Rs 65,759 have already been appropriated to works sanctioned in the Court's

1718
Court Proceedings dated 16th February 1877 No 644, so that the amount available for the works connected with the Raghunatha Cauvery project is only Rs 36,421.
