FOR ORDERS.

The Government of India have ruled that "halting allowance may not be drawn for more than ten days at one place unless in any case a longer period is allowed by some general or special order of the Govt of India."

The Accountant General contends that special sanction must be obtained for the permission lately given by the Board to Mr. Hughes to draw extra-entitlement as a permanent monthly allowance while his headquarters are at Harpauully where there is no public accommodation.

I do not consider that the Est. A. Restricting the period during which halting allowance can be drawn by an officer in camp. has any bearing on the established rule in this Presidency for compensating an officer in independent charge for providing accommodation for

The Board's order is in accordance with the long standing custom of the Presidency and the orders of Government as summarized in Section 11 of Board's Standing Order No 379 which says "Subordinate officers in separate charge who are not to be accommodated with public accommodations for their cut cherries shall also draw extra Tentage when they are residing at the Chief Station of their Division, if they provide suitable accommodation for their establishment in tents, or in a convenient building."

The same Standing Order (sec 10) prohibits halls for a longer time than 30 days - and his not the intent in the absence of any Govt. office at his H. Q. or to draw the cut cherries & draw himself if it is not fit. I don't think Govt. is bound to pay the expenses of dictation in any circumstances. I shall ask Govt. to be in the draft book of the draft. Rules. If it is promulgated.

This has been reduced by a subsequent Standing Order (14 Oct. 1867 379) to a fortnight.

The G. of D. ruling quota above may reasonably be taken as reducing this to ten days - but it does seem unreasonable to take it as upsetting all previous orders relating to extra Tentage.

As the local Govt is apparently bound to refer any question raised by the Account Dept when moved to do so, I presume this also must go? If so I presume that a general sanction should be solicited to the previous procedure in such-like cases?

It has been mentioned occasionally in reference from India that there is a Travelling Allowance

Code under preparation. The present ruling of the G. of I. is apparently a fragment of this. But this Government have not, I believe, (certainly not in the Revenue Dept) had any opportunity of discussing or criticizing the provisions of this code - that is to be and it will doubtless affect the working of our Establishment very considerably. Is it desirable to ask the Gov^{ts} of India whether they know what our present rules are before they proceed to lay down a new code? Cll
